ROGERS SEES DRY HEARINGS AS AID TO RAILROADS AND INNS

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 7.—No wonder, Mr. Ford and Mr. Edison are for present conditions. Been more Fords wrecked in the last few years than ever before, and with all our differences of opinion, this is the age of inventions.

WILL ROGERS

This investigation will run along for weeks, and hundreds will come to get their name in the papers. I can't help but believe that all these Washington hearings must be sponsored by the railroads and hotels. There can't possibly be any other reason for holding them.

Read Smoot got the tariff on sugar raised yesterday, so that means that a bunch of senators must have got it raised on something they wanted. Then they say there is no trading notes.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Representative Citizens Gather And Discuss Court House Project

BELIEVE PRESENT MOVE TO GET SITE

Meeting Of Representatives Of Many Organizations Is Held On Thursday

After discussing the needs of a new court house and the method of financing its construction, a group of representative citizens meeting with the county commissioners and county solicitor, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, on Thursday afternoon, were unanimous that a new court house should be built as soon as possible. They recommended that additional ground be purchased by the county commissioners adjoining the present location for this purpose at once.

The meeting was called by the county commissioners and Chamber of Commerce to determine the sentiment of this representative group following concerted agitation on the question for the past two months. It was attended by men from the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, and Wolves clubs, Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion; and the Chamber of Commerce.

County Solicitor J. P. Lockhart stated that the county commissioners were cognizant of the fact that a new court house was needed, but were undetermined on the best course to pursue. They have received many suggestions from citizens of New Castle and Lawrence county on the question, some of which were fantastic while others seemed feasible, he stated.

Flood In France Takes Heavy Toll In Lives-Property

Estimate Close To 500 Dead In Southern France As Result Of Devastating Floods

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS IN MILLIONS

All Relief Agencies At Work To Aid Suffering—4,000 Reported Homeless

(International News Service)

PARIS, March 7.—All France joined today in doing everything possible to bring relief to the victims of the devastating floods in Southern France which, it is feared, took a toll of between 500 and 700 lives.

With several hundred square miles of fertile land between the Mediterranean and the Atlantic still under water, communication with the stricken areas was difficult and exact estimates of deaths and property damage were not yet possible.

However, reports received here indicated the property damage would be at least $40,000,000 and the death toll at least well over 500.

Premier Tardieu and President Doumergue are going south today to visit the devastated regions. The chamber of deputies has already established a relief fund of about $2,000,000 but this figure will be raised if the premier and president find conditions warrant a greater sum.

The city of Bordeaux narrowly escaped the swollen water of the river Garonne which swept down from the stricken areas but fortunately did not overflow the river's banks in the vicinity of the city.

More than 40,000 people are believed to be homeless as result of the catastrophe which is the worst of its kind ever suffered by France.

STAR CHARGED WITH LOVE PIRACY

Frances Williams, revue star, is the defendant in a $10,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Mrs. Bertha Jones of Pittsburgh, wife of Allen Jones, New York musical comedy pianist. She charges that the star's engagement to her husband has been made publicly, that he wishes to divorce her and that the actress wears an engagement ring supposedly given her by Jones. Photo shows Miss Williams in her hotel suite at Cleveland, where she has been playing.

Council Favors New Ordinance On Court Costs

City Employees Would Be Required To Turn Fees Into Treasury

VOTE AT SESSION IS THREE TO TWO

Final Action Will Be Taken After Ordinance Has Been Printed

Council convened formally today in city hall and reported favorably from committee Councilman Genkinger's bill which regulates the collection of court fees by city officers and employees who appear as witnesses in Lawrence county court cases.

When the vote was taken Councilmen Genkinger, Reeves and Treser voted in favor of the measure but Mayor Gillespie and Burns cast negative ballots. Pending a final vote the bill will be printed.

According to the bill, police officers and employees when called as witnesses must sign an order by which the fees due them are turned over to the city treasurer.

Should they not wish to do this they can ask for a leave of absence while they are testifying but in such an event they will be cut off the city payroll during the time they are in court.

Penalty Provided. One of the penalties written into the bill explains that should any employee or officer fail to notify their superior and be off duty dismissal may be the result.

After the measure had been read Mr. Genkinger offered a motion, saying: "I refer it back with a favorable recommendation."

Mr. Burns—"I do not think it is advisable, under condition, for an ordinance of this kind. If they are receiving too much costs it is up to the county. I do not believe we should be the scapegoats. It will be hard on the department of public affairs."

Mr. Burns explained this by illustrating that automobiles with one light operate here and the police do not pay any attention to them because the fines and costs go to the state and gives the police an excuse for not doing so.

New Court House Again Recommended

Improvement Of Ventilating Systems For County Buildings Also Favored

Recommendation for a new court house was made by the grand jury which concluded its labors Thursday afternoon with a report on the county buildings. The specific wording of the recommendations was, "We recommend a new building for all court and county purposes in the vicinity of the court house."

There was some difference of opinion as to just what was meant by "in the vicinity of the court house." Some seemed to think that the jury favored another site, while others were inclined to the view that the recommendation would include the present site.

Recommendation was made that jury chairs and foot rests in the court rooms be repaired.

It was further recommended that ventilating systems be improved, especially in the county jail.

Police Hear Of Two Accidents

Considerable Damage Is Done When Automobiles Come Together

Albert F. Gebert, 1004 School street, was driving the truck of the H. J. Huston Hardware company east on East Long avenue and making a left hand turn into Pollock avenue on Thursday, when his truck was in a collision with the car of Raymond George of the Wilmington road, also enroute east on Long avenue in the rear of the truck. Mr. George made an effort to turn to one side on seeing the truck was making a left hand turn, but was unable to do so in time with the result that his machine was badly damaged when it came in contact with the truck.

In Collision. The cars of Andy H. Heasley of 717 Brooklyn avenue and Clark H. Rutter of Washington street, were in a collision at West Sycamore Way and North Jefferson street Thursday, both machines being damaged to some extent. Mr. Heasley was making a left hand turn from West Sycamore Way onto Jefferson street as the Rutter machine came north on Jefferson street. Both machines were damaged.

At the police station, Koerner admitted having been driving the car, while Lydia admitted ownership of the machine. They were both examined by a physician.

Report Two Bills From Committee

When council met formally today in the city building they considered two bills which have been reported from committee with favorable reports. They follow:

An ordinance providing for the paving of Furnace street.

(International News Service)
LORAIN, O., March 7.—One rum runner was wounded, perhaps fatally, and another was captured when coast-guardsmen under Captain J. T. The tug, an armor-plated craft, was overtaken and seized by the coast-guardsmen with little difficulty. Its crew of two men was taken into custody.

Miss Carrie Reed In Hospital As Result Of Accident

MISHAP OCCURS ON NORTH MILL ST.

Miss Carrie Reed, nurse, Hamilton apartments, North Mill street, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital suffering from severe body bruises and other injuries, sustained shortly after eight o'clock last night on North Mill street, in front of the Hamilton apartment building, when knocked down by a northbound street car operated by John Kaufman of East Washington street.

At the hospital at noon today, it was stated that she had sustained some very severe body bruises and was suffering considerably from the shock of the accident, but had passed a fairly good night and was not considered to be in a serious condition.

According to numerous eye-witnesses and others, Miss Reed apparently came from the North Mill street entrance of the Hamilton apartment and started to cross Mill street from the east to the west side, at a point several feet north of the North street intersection of Mill street.

Reports vary as to just what happened, some saying that Miss Reed

Corners Of Three States Felt Effect Of Damaging Storms

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 7.—Six dead, more than fifty injured, one small town practically wiped away, and property damage estimated in excess of $200,000 was the toll of a devastating tornado that swept through corners of three Southern States last night, a check up revealed today.

Originating in Northwestern Mississippi, the twister cut a wide path through that district. It then veered into Southeastern Arkansas and finally struck Northeastern Louisiana with full force.

Five of those killed and a majority of the injured were negroes.

Two negroes were fatally injured, 12 other persons hurt, some seriously, and fifteen houses destroyed when the tornado suddenly dipped down on Sun Flower, Bolivar and Humphreys counties in Mississippi. So quickly did the hurricane winds sweep across the district that few residents had time to seek shelter.

Mrs. J. T. Adams, an aged white woman, was killed when the tornado destroyed her farm home as it passed near Kosciusko, Miss. Several negro farm tenants were injured in this vicinity.

Doctors Approve Pre-School Exam Of All Children

Move Inaugurated By Federation Of Women's Clubs Meets Approval

WILL START WORK IN MONTH OF APRIL

At the monthly meeting of the Lawrence County Medical Society held last evening, the request of the Federation of Women's Clubs made through Mrs. W. L. Campbell, chairman of the health committee of the federation, for the co-operation of the physicians of the county in the proposed pre-school health conference, was received and approved by the unanimous vote of the members of the medical society upon the presentation of a motion to that effect by Dr. H. E. Zerner.

The movement inaugurated by the health committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs and approved by practically every civic agency and organization in the city, will get under way in April, when a census of the children of pre-school age will be taken. This will be followed in May by the pre-school health conference, when the children of pre-school age will be examined for possible bodily defects. The parents will be informed and the object is to give the parents an opportunity of correcting the defects in the children before they enter school, so that they may make better progress when they get into school.

The Physicians, the welfare nurses and the Parent-Teachers Associations of the city are co-operating and will assist in the census and conference. During the week of March 17, Mary Riggs Noble, M. D., chief of the Pre-School Division of the Department of Public Health, will be in the city under the auspices of the health committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs and will address various civic, welfare and Parent-Teachers Associations in the interest of the proposed pre-school work to be undertaken here.

came out from between parked automobiles directly in front of the street car, while others say there may have been no parked automobiles parked there.

According to John Kaufman, operator of the street car, he did not see her until she was directly in front of the street car. He immediately put on the sand and emergency brake and dropped the safety guard or fender in front of the car. He is of the opinion that she was rolled or shoved by the car for a distance of not more than a foot or two. It appeared to others who saw the accident that the distance might have been greater.

According to Operator Kaufman, had he had but a few feet further to go before hitting Miss Reed, she would probably have escaped all injury or even contact with the street car.

Immediately following the accident, Miss Reed was picked up and an ambulance called and she was removed to the Jameson Memorial hospital in a very short time, where it was determined that she had sustained no broken bones and apparently no real serious injuries.

STAR LORE

THE CLUSTER OF THE PLEIADES

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter

There are a number of attractive star clusters that show evidence of a common origin and evolution. Among these the Pleiades are conspicuous. This distinguished cluster reveals but six or seven stars to the naked eye, while the telescope brings out 2,000. However, the actual stars of the cluster may be picked out by their uniform motions which has been found. The stars actually belong to the cluster, number 240. They are moving 5.5 seconds per century along the celestial sphere, and their distance is 400 light years. Long exposed photographic plates of the Pleiades bring out magnificent wisps and filaments of nebulae intermingled with the stars.

brother, the pseudo dominie attempts to get $1,000 blackmail, and in collecting it the whole nefarious business of robbery is barred. Peggy finds that she isn't a bigamist, in fact, she isn't married at all, and like all first-class plays it ends just right.

Miss Brady, whose public favor has been won heretofore through her dancing feet, demonstrated a real dramatic ability Thursday evening.

In the future her dancing laurels will have to move over to make room for her dramatic laurels. Her boy friend, Wally Spencer (Joseph Aiken) got properly hot and bothered when he found that he couldn't kiss his wife after he had married her, and the most of us out in the house were in the young man's corner when he lost his temper. He didn't lose anything else, however, but rather gained a lot of friends through his work.

What a Lady
As Mrs. Eads, the wife of the proprietor of the Eads Hotel, Charlotte Bartlett showed us just how gawky a graceful young lady can be when she is engaged in make-believe. Mrs. Eads is one of those women whom men can't forget, particularly if one of them happens to be her husband.

Melvin Moorehouse had that honor his role being that of Obediah Eads, the hotel owner and constable of the township. The pair got away with their rude characters easily and interestingly.

Ralph Brice, the cheer leader of the Senior high school, had the crowd cheering for him in his role as Rufus Colgate. Josephine Allen, as Mrs. Shannon, the housekeeper, took the tough assignment of playing the part of a middle-aged woman, but did it well. The parts of Marie Wilson and Duke Wilson, maid and chauffeur of the Colgate home, were taken by Dorothy Patch and James Sotus.

Johnny Hodge had the part of Cousin Jimmy Rawlinson, who was an attorney; William Hazen the part of Bill Cripps, the crook, and Earl Haid the part of Kennedy, the detective who took the crooks back to the law. Parsonal Crandall, the other crook, was played by James Thompson.

A good football coach usually turns out a good football team, and the same applies to a good dramatic coach. The play was coached by Miss Clara Hartsuff, something you could recognize immediately if you happen to know Miss Hartsuff's penchant for detail and accuracy.

During the intermission Joe Replogle put the high school orchestra through its paces and entertained the crowd with a group of orchestral numbers.

This evening the play will be repeated for the benefit of the Union Baptist church. The house was jammed Thursday evening, and if you want a laugh and a chance to help a worthy cause, attend.

Speed Maniacs To Be Caught

Police To Watch For Trucks Operating At Dangerous Speed

EMORY DAVIS and other delegates from the South Side board of trade today conferred with council, which met formally at City Hall, and several problems affecting the South Side were discussed. Council informed the delegation the body would willingly co-operate with the board of trade.

Mr. Davis said that trucks speed through Long avenue where it intersects Hamilton street and also Pollock avenue.

He said the Lincoln-Garfield school is in the district and the board of trade believes speeding should be stopped.

A suggestion was made that school zone signs be placed.

Mr. Davis also reported that a large truck unloads at Mill and Long avenue each morning and traffic is blocked.

He said that the truck can unload at the rear of the business place. Councilman Reeves said these problems should be settled by the mayor and department of police.

The mayor said that they would be given immediate attention and council approved of the mayor's position.

cials, county officials of Lawrence and Butler county and prominent men of New Castle and Ellwood City. The conference was in the form of a dinner in Portersville and turned out to be the happy solution of the entire problem. Both counties agreed to throw their portions of the road into one contract, the state agreed to aid in the matter and it was agreed that the contracts should be let early this spring. The notice of the bid advertisement bears out the state's good faith in the matter, and brings to fruition a plan that has long been on paper.

Done Late In Summer.

Because of the length of the road, nearly seven miles, it will mean that the road will take a good part of the summer for completion. No work can be done until the weather breaks, and the first step will be considerable grading and engineering. No concrete will be laid until the weather permits, but once it does, the road will go steadily forward to completion.

This is the second big piece of road to be laid in Lawrence county this summer. While the work from Ellwood City to Portersville is going forward, the work on the Perry highway from the Mercer county line to the Butler road through Harlansburg, when the two are done, Ellwood City will be connected with Mercer and Erie, via Portersville and Harlansburg, over the Perry highway.

At the same time, the work on the Enon Valley hookup with Beaver county will be going on, including the erection of a new bridge over the railroad there, the approach to the Cascade Park bridge will be completed, and the new bridge on the Harlansburg road will be completed.

Lawrence county is due for another big summer of road building and the work will bear out the promises made a year ago, that this county was finally going to get a fair share of state work done.

CLEAN UP!

THERE is no "sure sign" of spring, but spring should be a "sure sign" of the arrival of that time for the community to clean up. There is no superstition or prophesying about this clean-up sign.

When warm weather has come to stay (until cold weather returns in the autumn) every owner of property and tenant should instinctively feel it his duty to remove the evidences of winter's ravages and to aid and augment nature in her work of rehabilitation.

Every spring clean-up program should include disposal of winter's accumulation of litter and decayed vegetation, repairing and repainting of buildings, and landscape gardening. Landscape gardening is no longer associated with large estates alone.

Cleanliness about the person or the home costs nothing. A community clean-up need involve no expense, except of a moderate amount of labor on the part of the householders. If there ever were excuses for uncleanness they were removed long ago.

What is the compensation of a community-wide clean-up campaign? It improves the general health of the community by removing deposits that are breeding places of disease germs and disease carrying insects. A clean town is a better place in which to live than one that is unsanitary and unsightly. And the best community advertising is the appearance of being "cleaned-up, painted-up and planted-up."

DIPLOMACY AND BUSINESS

The new American and typically Hooverian tradition of business men in diplomacy is carried on by the appointment of John N. Willys as ambassador to Poland.

It is a custom that gains strength daily. It suggests such names as Dawes, Morrow, Herriek, Edge and Sackett, all diplomats drafted from big business.

The enlarged importance of the world of trade cannot be better illustrated than by the simple fact that a poet no longer can represent America abroad. The days when Hayes saw fit to make James Russell Lowell minister to the court of Spain, and later ambassador to England, are long dead. Economic necessity grants the distinction to the business man.

Foreign service ceased many years ago to be a social affair. Ambassadors still observe certain forms of court etiquette but their official business consists of more than wearing silk knee-breeches and bowing low before royalty. The present-day diplomat is the intermediary between domestic and foreign business as well as between two governments.

"Dollar diplomacy" helped defeat President Taft for re-election in 1912. It helped elect Herbert Hoover president in 1928.

Willys, one of the world's most successful and widely known automobile manufacturers, will be representing the best interests of his government whenever he represents the best economic interests of his country.

POWER OF PUBLIC OPINION

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick. So also does the way in which international conferences drag their slow length along gives rise to public impatience.

Conferences always seem protected out of all proportion to what is ultimately accomplished. This is partly due to the thousand and one details which must be exhaustively and exhaustively considered before even the meagerest points can be agreed upon. This is to be desired for treaties and pacts hastily arrived at may prove highly troublesome.

The second month of the London conference is now drawing to a close. Progress of a very definite character has been made in discussions, but results visible to the eye have not been forthcoming. The resultant impatience on the part of the onlooker is therefore understandable.

This public impatience exerts a power for good. It jogs along the dilatory conferees and discourages the waste of time over trifles. Wherever politicians gather politics will be played until the people let it be known that they have had enough. There is not a delegation at London that does not particularly dread being put into the position of unnecessarily delaying and obstructing progress.

Impatient though they are, the people of the United States have not given up hope to the extent that Senator McKeller would have the nation believe he has. The public does not concur in his petition to the president to recall the American delegation.

LONGER R. F. D. ROUTES

Efficiency experts of the post office department are making a survey in the interests of efficiency and economy which indicates at this stage of the study that rerouting of rural mail delivery routes would permit reduction of rural mail carriers by 8000.

When most of the routes were mapped out the horse and buggy provided the motive power for rural mail deliveries. Routes averaged 28 miles in length. Today rural America receives its mail by automobile, relatively few horses remaining in the R. F. D. service.

Transition from horse power to motor power would permit doubling the length of the average route without delaying deliveries or making them irregular, it is claimed.

These disclosures in the name of economy are no guarantee that the changes they suggest will be put into effect. No opposition from the farmers is likely to develop, but rural congressmen will not docilely submit to a scheme that would deprive them of 8000 government jobs and make 8000 of their constituents jobless.

While congressmen realize that efficiency and economy are as essential in public as in private business, their protests against the suggested reduction in carriers will not be quieted by anything so indefinite as Assistant Postmaster General Coleman's assurance that "the department will do its utmost to prevent dropping employees."

About all a rolling stone gathers is speed.

Ford and Edison Dry.

What Will Come.

Dangerous Voodoo Party.

A Keeper Killed.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

Friends of prohibition tell the house judiciary committee that a "dry America" means a country with happy homes, filled with luxuries, everybody enjoying himself.

Henry Ford telegraphs his certainty that "the same people of the nation would not allow any dangerous modification of the prohibition law."

Edison wired: "Prohibition is the greatest experiment yet made to benefit man."

Edison and Ford represent the opinions of many Americans.

One thing is sure. Nobody now living will see prohibition taken out of the constitution, barring a revolution, which we shall not have.

Several cities wonder what will happen in the way of "Red outbreaks." That will depend probably on the wisdom of police in handling the situation, which is partly "Red" and largely, "unemployment."

In Newark, early Wednesday morning, a combination of alleged voodoo worship and bootleg whiskey resulted in killing one policeman and one "voodooist."

Police, creeping cautiously to the top floor door in a house, apparently deserted, heard chanting, rhythmic thumping of bodies against walls, and a negro saying:

"There ain't no such thing as law; everybody makes his own law, according to the light God gives him."

Loud "Amens" greeted this. The police broke in, found the small room crowded with negroes, men and women, chanting what the police described as voodoo hymns. There was shooting. One negro, one policeman killed; other negroes and other policemen wounded. Old beliefs die slowly. Violent interference is dangerous.

We do not understand management of prisons, or our criminals are different from other criminals.

Warden Hoffman of Auburn prison, New York, told a reporter:

"We are sitting on a powder keg. Wednesday a convict stabbed the head keeper of the prison to death. He knew that the electric chair, nearby, would inevitably avenge that murder. Nevertheless, he committed it."

Swift trial and punishment should protect the other keepers.

Careful investigation should find what treatment and conditions drove a convict to so desperate an act.

Leaders of new "cults" often convince themselves.

At St. Joe, Ark., Irwin C. Graham, leader of the "Incoming Kingdom" and later leader of the "Visionary" branch, planned with Divine aid to cure himself of illness by fasting. He died, and died of hunger.

This is not new. In the Middle Ages a man announced that he was the real Messiah, would go down to the Bosphorus and walk upon the surface. His crowd of believers followed him and all were drowned, he included.

Following Gov. Sampson's suggestion that chain stores be "forced to bear their burden of taxation" Kentucky's legislature levies a tax of one-twentieth of one per cent on chain store "sales" of $400,000 and less, $1,000,000 gross sales would pay one per cent. The state to collect $1,500,000 a year.

The state doubtless will collect, but, of course, the citizens of Kentucky patronizing the chain stores will pay the tax. The stores will increase prices in proportion to cover the tax.

The hope, however, is that this will discourage chain stores and help encourage the individual store.

Smaller towns and cities object particularly to the fact that chain store receipts do not pay in the town where they are collected, but are sent back to headquarters, some times every day. Even the local banks haven't a chance to make a profit.

Armament delegates in London seek to agree on a limit to submarine sizes. One thousand, eight hundred tons limit was suggested.

This country already has six submarines bigger than 1,800 tons. France is building one of 2,880 tons. Japan according to French navy officer, has the biggest submarine in the world.

This country should have the biggest and the most submarines. Make them useful, exploring below the water in peace times, more useful in case of war. Build them, if possible with a 25,000-mile cruising range, so that they could go around the world and remind anybody attacking us that such attacks are foolish.

There are oil wells and mine and other interesting things below the water. An engineer might make a submarine self supporting.

How much in the way of deadly drugs come into the United States? Two trunks found on a pier of the French line Wednesday contained $500,000 worth of morphine.

Distributed by the "dope peddlers" that is enough to sentence hundreds to lives of misery.

Many of the worst immigrants are smuggled in under our immigration laws, that kept out the ambitious, honorable, desirable immigrants that have created this country.

In Europe, a ring including United States consular officials, has been detected forging passports. Each one admits somebody willing to start life here on a criminal basis.

Better have the old kind of immigration.

So the idea is to make submarines do their fighting without any rough stuff. Why not teach them to clinch?

 Jacob Rents,

 New Castle, Pa.

Dear Son:
 As has been my custom for many years, I will again this year give five dollars to every baby born in Lawrence county on my birthday, March 12th. In order to get this prize all claims must be made on or before the first of April, 1930. Last year some made the claim nine months after that date. A doctor's certificate must accompany every claim for the prize. This is only for babies born in Lawrence county on that date. Every year people write from all over the U. S. Claiming the five bones just because they were born on March 12. Some made the claim who were 75 years old.

If you do not have enough money to pay the claims pawn the piano in my house. Nobody ever plays it anyhow.

Daniel Webster was a great Lawyer, but very modest by comparison with Ex-Lawyer Hughes, yet the legal ability of Abraham Lincoln prior to his service to the Nation as its great War President, was not considered much, when compared to the ponderous Webster.

Lincoln once won, on appeal to the highest court, a suit against an important Western railroad which, had the decisions of the lower courts stood, would have compelled the road to pay taxes in every Illinois County and would have thrown it into bankruptcy. His bill was for $2,000.

The railroad official in charge looked at it and exclaimed, "Why, this is as much as a first-class lawyer would have charged—as much as Daniel Webster himself would have charged."

So Lincoln was paid $200.

President's Economy Advice Is Defended And Questioned

Second Thoughts More Favorable To Executive Than First Impression Which Was Governed By Previous Appeal For Aid In Employment

Second thoughts throughout the country are favorable to President Hoover, following his appeal for economy in the matter of Congressional appropriations. Many who felt that the previous plea for aid in the unemployment situation was inconsistent with his latest utterance have modified their views. There are some, however, who maintain a critical attitude.

"The attacks are likely to prove a boomerang," declares the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, opening its discussion with the query: "Since when did it become a high crime for a President of the United States to warn Congress to keep appropriations down lest there be a deficiency in the public Treasury?"

The Star adds: "With a margin of safety of the budget figures of only $50,000,000 it is time to warn, not only the country, but also Congress, of the situation, and to attempt to discourage the inauguration of new projects which might bring a deficit in the Treasury."

"As President Hoover points out," according to the SCHENECTADY GAZETTE, "we cannot cut down tax levies and at the same time spend more. Such inconsistency breeds an impossible situation. Our Senators and Representatives will do well to heed his words of caution. Otherwise we shall find our Federal tax bill mounting, despite the fact that special wartime levies have been abandoned."

Among the critics of the President is the NEW YORK EVENING POST, which says: "He has a right to stand up for the budget. If he doesn't, who will? But it was a little too histrionic to use as a danger signal the sum total of all the irresponsible special appropriation bills, most of which have no chance whatever of passage."

It is too bad that, with leadership so sorely lacking in other directions, he should come to grief in attempting it where it was by no means a crucial or popular need."

"Of course, the President ought to know," advises the LYNCHBURG ADVANCE, "that some of the appropriation measures before Congress haven't the remotest chance of approval. Most of them are bills which are introduced simply as vote getters for Senators and Congressmen. They are local or sectional bills and go into the hopper for home consumption only. The whole affair has placed the White House in a very unpleasant position, and has further widened the gap between the legislative and executive branches of the government."

The WORCESTER GAZETTE feels "it is too bad that the President's ends could not have been attained by quiet conferences with Congressional leaders rather than by countrywide broadcast."

In reply to these criticisms, the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN asserts that "the fact that some of the schemes of expenditure listed by the President Hoover as threatening the balanced budget of the Administration are pigeonholed in non-committees and are unlikely to come out, does not detract from the force of his warning to Congressional leaders."

Westminster Students Make Whoopee When Geneva Beats Dukes

If you happened to be in the vicinity of New Wilmington last night between the hours of 10:30 and 12 o'clock, you probably thought that a bunch of inmates had broken loose from some state insane asylum, but such was not the case, far from it.

It was just a group of some 200 Westminster College students hurrahing, raving and doing all manners of funny things, such as ringing doorbells and building bonfires and making speeches.

Bell Tolls Tidings

The Old Main Memorial building was lighted up as usual and in the tower there is a bell and on the bell is a big clapper, and this clapper was clapping its loudest. The ringing of the bell startled the citizens who did not know what it was all about.

As to the reason for this sudden hysteria, there is a perfectly good cause back of it. The Geneva College basketball team down in Pittsburgh last night blasted a great Duquesne University floor team's Conference championship with a score of 27 to 24.

Andy A. McDonald, graduate manager and Coach John Lawther had front row seats at the Duke-Geneva fuss, and when they had regained their senses after watching the Beaver Fallians harrassing the Dukes, they made post-haste for a telephone and the glad tidings that the Titans ruled the Tri-State was coming over the wire. Whether or not the youth who took the message from McDonald, fainter, or passed out on the picture could not be learned. It was almost unbelievable, it was unexpected, unexpected, but nevertheless it happened as it does in the best of regulated basketball realms.

Like Wildfire

The news of the Geneva triumph spread like wildfire around the college campus. Soon groups were gathering in front of the Old Main, others were hurrying for the woodpile, others were busy ringing the bell, Paul Revere was outvied, when it came to gathering the forces.

For about an hour and a half, or maybe just a little later, there was not much sleeping around the United Presbyterian campus. Some thought that the town was burning down, others thought maybe the world had come to an end, and few ventured the belief that another war had started. They were all wrong. It was a basketball victory for Geneva, and Westminster shared it in full. And if you have ever gone to college you know that most collegians take their basketball and football seriously, gleefully and without restraint, that is, when victory rides along.

All Is Serene

However all is serene up in New Wilmington today. Nothing remains to tell the tale of last night's exhibition except perhaps a few scattered ashes from the big bonfire. Classes as usual.

There are a few sidelights to the Geneva victory that are worth mentioning.

When the game in Pittsburgh had ended, and the Dukes were beaten, big Slim Ransom, a tall stately young man, who jumps center for Lockfeller and his crew, made his way to Andy McDonald and in clear tones said:

"McDonald you tell 'Red' Crowell that I did it for him." It seems as if the two rival centers in basketball and track stars on their respective teams are great friends, such as are made in college. Ransom's thoughts were of his friend who had tasted defeat two nights previous, this kind of spirit cannot be beaten. It rings the bell.

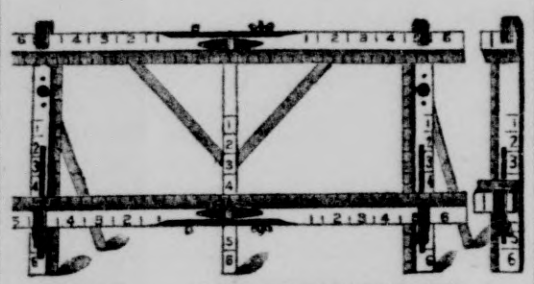

O'Donald Makes Whoopee

"Len" Friedman after receiving congratulations from Andy McDonald and Lawther put in a good word for the Geneva boys when it comes time to have the basketball banquet at New Wilmington, and McDonald said, "We'll see."

Down in the Jameson Memorial hospital this city, another celebration was taking place. Glenn "Babe" O'Donovan, the injured Titan warrior, in bed with his leg in a cast from a dislocated internal semi-lunar cartilage, just about wrecked the bed and hospital when the news of the Geneva victory was taken to him. "Babe" clean forgot about his busted joint, and whooped it up with the persons who happened to be in his room. A crippled appendage was nothing to a victory for Geneva, and Tri-State honors for the Titans. O'Donovan has played his final collegiate game, and was captain this year. He points to his finale in Tri-State basketball with pride, and is certainly thankful to the Geneva boys.

It was a tough long grind this Tri-State race in 1929-30 and now that it is all ended, the Titans are out in front where they rightfully belong. It is another feather in the already crowded hat worn by John Lawther.

AIR EXPEDITION TO MEXICO FOR WILD LIFE HUNT

(International News Service)
OAKLAND, Cal., March 3.—An aerial expedition into the wilderness tracts of northwestern Mexico in search of rare specimens of fish and animal life is scheduled to start from Oakland airport.

Edward C. Garratt, Oakland millionaire and internationally known sportsman, will head the expedition. His wife, also a noted rod and gun enthusiast, will be a member of the party.

The flight will be made in a closed cabin ship piloted by Sidney Du Bose, world war flier. The plane has been stocked with emergency rations and equipment to serve in case of a forced landing.

Fishing Exploration
Exploration of virgin fishing and hunting grounds several hundred miles below the border and adjacent to the gulf of California, is the major aim of the expedition.

This historic area, colored by ancient Indian legends and seldom seen by white men, is declared to be the last stronghold of rare species of fish and game which have survived down through the ages. It is hoped to obtain valuable specimens for the University of California.

The expedition plane, flagship of the American air cab company of which Du Bose is president, will make its first stop at Phoenix, Arizona, where a quantity of provisions and fuel will be taken aboard for the final dash across 400 miles of hazardous mountain country to the gulf coast.

Off Beaten Track
The proposed route is said to be far off the beaten track and never before traversed by airplanes. The country itself, because of its arid and rugged nature, is practically without human habitation.

A preliminary survey flight to select prospective landing fields will be made by Du Bose before flying in with Garratt and his wife.

Inauguration of an aerial service for sportsmen is proposed by Garratt if his test flight succeeds.

The Mexican expedition is expected to take at least two months.

Name Drivers For New Fire Truck

New Wilmington Council Selects Men To Drive New Fire Engine

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 7.—The Town Council of the Borough of New Wilmington met in the council chambers on Wednesday March 5. Important business was taken up.

The council passed an ordinance reducing the taxes one mill. This new tax cut makes the borough tax nine mills rather than ten as formerly.

The new fire truck was accepted after trial and five men, W. R. Anderson, Bud Anderson, Dave Means, Fillmore Campbell and Troy Hill were appointed as drivers. Mr. Smith, representative of the Seagraves Company, will remain here for a week or ten days to teach the new drivers how to operate the new engine and to instruct some in caring for it.

The council appointed a committee to go to Pittsburgh to confer with the Public Service Commission in regard to the telephone company. Those who went were S. E. Calhoun, Wallace Pitzer, J. A. Pitzer, Daniel McQuiston, J. C. Monroe.

The council committee will meet with the heads of the local water company on Friday evening, March 7.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Walt Whitman on Wednesday evening. Some twenty people were present at the meeting.

The World Day of Prayer will be observed in the Neshannock Presbyterian church this afternoon. Services will be held at 2:00 o'clock and conducted by Rev. W. F. Byers, pastor.

Bridegroom Is 72 While Bride Is 71

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 7.—An aged Greene county couple, whose combined ages totaled 143 years, were married here Wednesday. Court records show they are the oldest couple married in the history of Greens county. The bride was Mrs. Pleasy Lauderback, 71, and the groom was James B. Grimm, 72. Both are residents of Jefferson.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Mrs. Goldie King, deputy clerk of courts. It is the third matrimonial venture for Mrs. Grimm, both of whose former husbands are dead, while it is the second time that Grimm, whose first wife is dead, has gone through the ceremony in the role of groom. They will reside at Jefferson.

Employees Save For "Rainy Day"

Workmen In Employee Of State Save For Retirement Pay

HARRISBURG, March 7.—Records of the state employees' retirement fund show that employees of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with the aid of their employer, are vigorously engaged in "laying something aside for a rainy day." State Treasurer Edward Martin said today. General Martin is treasurer of the fund.

The fund was created by legislative enactment in 1923 and now has a membership of over 9000. Its reserve fund is increasing at the rate of 15 per cent a year, according to Wilmer Johnson, fund secretary.

The annual report of the fund shows that members of the association have contributed more than $3,250,000, while legislative appropriations have been $4,853,057. The members' contributions are taken directly from their salaries, bi-monthly.

The invested funds of the system, in the amount of approximately $6,000,000 par value, consist of obligations of the United States government, Pennsylvania municipalities and first mortgages on Pennsylvania real estate.

The fund has a membership of over 9000. On May 31, 1929, it was $897, as compared with 7032 a year previous and 4698 on May 31, 1926.

Under the provisions of the act creating the fund, employees of the state upon reaching a certain age, after the required number of years' service, are retired, and thereafter draw a certain percentage of their monthly check. The 1929 legislature abolished the judges' pension system as originally created and now all judges except those in service prior to January of this year and those entitled to pensions under the old method must join with charmen, marble polishers, clerks and heads of departments in making payments to the funds twice each month.

School For Tramps Kept In Fine Old London Mansion

LONDON, March 7.—A school for tramps is being kept in a fine old mansion owned by the late Earl of Egremont.

In the school men are found who have been forced upon the road by failure to secure employment and are being trained in market gardening, basket making, hand weaving, and wood carving. After they learn their trade a job is found for them.

Present plans call for a class of 25 men at a time, the course running through three or four months. Food and shelter is furnished these "knights of the road" while they are learning, and it is hoped that by sale of products made by them that the institution will soon become self-supporting.

Eads Bridge Is Given 150 More Years Of Life

St. LOUIS, March 7.—Stately old Eads Bridge, a reproduction of which would be prohibitive today because of the expense, has at last 150 years of life yet to live, is the belief of Thomas C. Shedd, of the structural engineering department of the University of Illinois.

"This bridge is the only one of its kind in the world," Shedd said. "The bridge is built of hollow tubes made of special steel which would make it very expensive today."

Eads bridge was officially opened in 1874, although its construction began in 1867.

Man Meets Death In Peculiar Way

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 7.—Rudolph Mikec, 21, of Muse, near Canonsburg, met death in a peculiar accident while working under his automobile. Had the victim been a slender man he would not have been injured. He was found under the car with his chest crushed. It is presumed that, in crawling beneath the machine, he struck a jack and knocked it from under the axle. His heart was crushed.

Despondent Widow Takes Her Own Life

JOHNSTOWN, March 7.—Mrs. Minnie Woods, aged 50, a widow, committed suicide at her home in Franklin by shooting herself through the heart with a .32 calibre revolver. Ill health is believed to have been the cause of the woman taking her life.

Her son, Officer Earl Woods of Franklin, discovered the body of his mother a short time after she had shot herself.

New Labels Being Used On Eggs

(International News Service)
BOSTON, March 7.—From the Massachusetts department of agriculture came the report that during the first five weeks of 1930 sixty thousand special egg labels have been ordered by 34 producers, 27 of whom had not previously used the label, the New England council announced. The Massachusetts farm bureau reported the sale of 212,000 Massachusetts special egg boxes.

Rural Frenchmen Attend Night School

(International News Service)
PARIS, March 7.—Rural Frenchmen are beginning to prefer night school to the corner cafe, according to inspectors of education in many departments.

Two reasons are given to account for the new habit; viz: the movies and radio programs.

There are now 4990 schools equipped with motion picture projectors. The number of radio receiving sets in classrooms is much greater and can not be estimated.

Since children have been telling their fathers of learning via the screen and loud speaker, it is said the heads of families are foregoing the usual evening beer and billiards for post-graduate courses.

Reports from schools in seven departments testify as to the success of the adult night schools.

BOYS' SOCIETY STARTS DRIVE FOR $10,000,000

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, March 7.—A campaign for a $10,000,000 endowment fund to further and expand its activities was announced today by the Order of DeMolay, international organization for young men under 21.

Announcement of the campaign was made by Frank S. Land, directing head of the organization. Land, who founded the order here 11 years ago to promote character and citizenship among youth, receives no compensation for his work.

The order has 500,000 members and a check of the records of international headquarters here today disclosed more than 1,300 chapters. They are in all states, Alaska, Mexico, Panama Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands, Italy, France and in the U. S. Navy.

"This is the first time DeMolay has asked for financial assistance from the general public," Land said. "Next to the Boy Scouts and Y. M. C. A. we have the largest organization in the world, engaged in similar work."

"However if the order is to keep up with its increasing demands, assistance is necessary from those who are interested in the welfare of young men."

Land launched the order, which is sponsored by the Masonic lodge, here March 24, 1919 with a group of nine boys. It is a secret order. Its principles are love of parents, reverence, patriotism, cleanliness, courtesy, fidelity and comradeship. The age limits are 16 to 21.

The movement is non-sectarian and though sponsored by Masonic bodies, they do not support it financially and it is not a junior Masonic fraternity. Only about 40 per cent of the membership are sons of Masons, Land estimated.

The endowment campaign will be conducted on a national scale with leaders over each district.

Club Secretary Has Difficult Job

(International News Service)
SOUTHEND, England, March 7.—A club secretary's lot is not a happy one. Acknowledging his reelection as secretary of the Nore Yacht club Harold Ives described a club secretary's life like this:

If he writes a letter it is too long.

If he sends a postcard it is too short.

If he goes to a committee meeting he is butting in.

If he stays away he is a shirker.

If the crowd is slim he should call the members up.

If he calls them up he is a pest.

If he duns the members for their dues he is insulting.

If he does not collect them he is lazy.

If a gathering is a howling success the entertainments committee are praised.

If it is a failure the secretary is blamed.

If he asks for suggestions he is incompetent.

If he does not ask for suggestions he is bull-headed.

Ives concluded: "Ashes to ashes dust to dust; if others won't do it, the secretary must."

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—B. A. Gage and his wife were sitting on their porch one evening recently talking over the day's events.

Mrs. Gage happened to look down the driveway. With an astonished expression she exclaimed to her husband, "Well, would you look at what Tabby brought home?"

Gage looked. The proud cat, tail arched and strutting, was leading five little kittens with tails arched, up the driveway. As they got closer, however, Gage observed that the cats in the rear of the parade had white streaks down their backs.

"Skunks," whispered Gage, and they both beat a hasty retreat into the house.

Dean Inge Urges Englishman To Return "Gentleman's Code"

(International News Service)
LONDON, Mar. 7.—What is the part of "an English gentleman," in English life?

Dean Inge has been examining this question in an address to Schoolmasters, and he arrived at several very definite conclusions.

"The ideal of an English gentleman," said the Dean, "for centuries past, has been the lay religion, the week day religion of a great part of the British nation."

"A bishop would be much more angry if he were told that he was no gentleman than if he were told he was no Christian."

"Yet if we lose this standard of honor—and writers like Bernard Shaw and H. G. Wells are never tired of girding at it. We lose the sheet anchor of our national character."

"But the standard has its drawbacks. The cult of old families is absurd and wealth funds few defenders. But fine manners are certainly an ingredient in the constitution of a gentleman. Vulgarly, not rusticity, is the opposite of good manners. There is no sort of reason why a gentleman should not be a working farmer or any other kind of working man."

"The moral qualities which belong to the English ideal are truthfulness, courage, justice and fair play, abhorrence of meanness and crooked dealing, and the respect for the personality of all human beings as such."

"It is a pity that contempt for the intellectual side of life, is making the upper classes in England useless to the community and helpless to keep their own position. It is a vulgar mistake: it implies a want of sensibility in the higher and finer values of life."

"The beefy foxhunter who never opens a book is a pathetic anachronism only fit for a museum of fossils. It is on this side that our upper classes' ideal needs most vigorous criticism."

"Unfortunately, in their creed the most unpardonable sin in Britain is to be a "cad"—that is to say, to fall short of the standard of honor to which all gentlemen have to conform. To this day the Herald's College will give no certificate of gentility to a tradesman."

"There is no reason why the working man should not be a gentleman equally as much as the ennobled foxhunter."

Kissing One's Wife Publicly Once Drew Severe Punishment, Law Reveals

STRANGERS HAD

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mar. 7.—Old Boston had its crimes and its criminals as well as the New Boston of today.

Whereas, in the old days the kissing of one's wife publicly was considered criminal, it is now "white-slavery" and dope peddling, that are punishable by prison sentences.

A vivid comparison might be drawn up of Boston in the olden days and the present day Boston.

With the passing out of the stocks and the pillars, the form of punishment administered in the puritan era for the breaking of a law such as "Labor Ye not on the Sabbath," of which the present civilization would consider trivial, a misdemeanor and not a crime, came the advent of the first charter of Boston.

Horse cars were the swiftest mode of inter-transportation, and high bicycles were considered a reckless speeding contraption. From the records, perhaps the first instance of a Boston "traffic situation" dates back, when a law was passed forbidding anyone to gallop a horse through any street "except as a part of a military exercise or in an emergency." Records point out that contained in the Body of Liberties of Old Boston there was a rule whereby "Children were specifically given the right to complain against parents who wielded the rod too enthusiastically or whose manner of correction was otherwise excessively severe."

If a stranger visited Old Boston he was not permitted to remain longer than three weeks unless he secured a license from a magistrate. This act was drawn up by town fathers to insure against public charges being cast upon the support of the town.

According to an article written on the record of crime of Old Boston, by Albert Morris, an instructor of social science at Boston University, in the current issue of the monthly alumni magazine the "practice of entertaining unmarried strangers was of particular concern, for, besides the potential economic burden, it savored of downright immorality. Single women (who were ancient maids at twenty-five) and bachelors were looked upon as living on the borderland of criminality by a society that glorified the orthodox family."

Professor Morris' article pointed out that the most common crimes in Old Boston were drunkenness, swearing, sexual immorality, petty thieving, running away, and technical crimes which were "violations of statutes of a prudential rather than of a criminal nature."

An illustration of the strict enforcement of the Puritan moral code of Old Boston is brought out in the article, in the treatment extended Captain Kemble who, "returning to his home, after a voyage of three years, was sentenced to sit in the stocks for his 'lewd and unseemly behavior in kissing his wife publicly on the Sabbath when she met him at the doorstep.'"

Coming back to the present day of high-powered roadsters, airplanes and radio, crime has progressed in keeping with the onrush of modern civilization, and crime in Boston has kept pace.

According to an article by Walter
W. Liggett entitled "Bawdy Boston" the city is now in the throes of hijackers, rum-runners, white slaves, dope peddlers and a politically corrupt gang of grafters. The federal grand jury here have been investigating his charges.

RETURN OF OLD-FASHIONED GIRL

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 7—

Pity the modern young man who considers himself a hand with the ladies—or flappers, if you prefer it — he's merely being led back into the path of sobriety by the nose and doesn't know it. And it's the "ladies" if you please, who're doing it.

Thus proclaimed Miss Annette Wallman, English society beauty, upon her arrival here during a tour of California.

"Have you missed the woman of 20 years ago?" inquired Miss Wallman.
Receiving affirmation, she continued:

"Well, you are to see her again—within five years."

"Bustle and all?" she was asked.

"Of course, women five years hence will not be the atrociously clad ones of 20 years ago—Bustles! My Word!"

"What I mean is that jazz tendencies in modern life have padded on women and they are ready to revert to the type of two decades past."

"How do I know? Already the dresses are longer, the waltz is returning, there are increasing numbers of us allowing our hair to grow long again, and many more young women are refusing to permit, where before we tolerated, familiarities of escorts."

"In short, women, tiring of the futile and hectic pace of modern times are preparing to return to sobriety, modesty and composure. We are taking the men with us."

Balloonist Of War Fame Hides
For 11 Years

CINCINNATI, O., March 7.—The last time James A. McDevitt tumbled over the bridge of a balloon basket and floated safely to earth under the comforting folds of a parachute, he resolved upon a life of security and quiet.

That was back in 1918 when dropping through thin ozone occurred with more marked regularity than lunch hours.

For more than 11 years McDevitt, a lieutenant, kept his resolution. He lived in such obscurity that not even his most intimate neighbors guessed that this mild, unobtrusive man was the possessor of the coveted Distinguished Service Cross.

As a member of the 11th Balloon company, he served the major part of America's service in the war in France. He does not recall the number of times he was shot down. Probably they were frequent since on one 24-hour shift, he did the spiral act three times.

The first time he leaped from a burning craft occurred shortly after he landed in France, having had one leap to his credit while in training camps. Doing observation duty, an enemy plane applied the torch and as the former balloonist explained, "I jumped. There was nothing else to do, previous experience to the contrary notwithstanding."

On another occasion, his parachute was riddled with gun fire as he descended. An Allied plane barraged his craft upon another occasion but McDevitt has his doubts that the plane was flying under its true colors.

The identity of the modest ex-lieutenant was recently established by Major H. H. Arnold, commander of Wright Field, Dayton.

GLOBE, Ariz., Mar. 7.—John Vloes got angry with his wife recently and swore out a complaint and had his helpmate arrested for using the family car.

He charged her with stealing it in his complaint, Justice of the Peace P. P. Greer, however, ruled that "A wife can't be arrested for using the family property." It was revealed latter that the car was jointly owned.

Secure Expert To Supervise Work
Of Tree Trimming

The Pennsylvania Power Company has created a division of forestry in the electrical department to have full charge of all tree trimming in connection with the erection and maintenance of its distribution and transmission lines.

In creating this new division to insure the proper treatment of trees and to preserve their beauty and health, the electric company sought out a trained and experienced forester to have charge of the work.

They found him in Ronald J. Preston, who studied forestry at Michigan State College, where he was graduated in 1924 with the degree of bachelor of science. He joined the Pennsylvania Power Company a month ago, after six years active experience with the Consumers Power Company of Michigan.

Since his arrival here Mr. Preston has been organizing his division and is looking over the territory served by the Pennsylvania Power Company.

He has his forces organized now and they have started their work in New Castle. The work also will be carried on in and about Sharon and Greenville within the next few weeks.

The proper trimming of trees is a matter of importance to preserve the health and beauty of the trees. The method used includes the removal of dead or diseased limbs, stubs which might decay thus causing the rotting of the parent limb, and the removal of all weakened limbs.

Spanish Throne Totters As Republicans Gain Power

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Cable Editor

NEW YORK, March 7.—Another of Europe's glided but unstable thrones seems on the verge of falling.

The royal regime in Spain, last stronghold of the once powerful Bourbon line which once waved its various scepters over virtually all of Mediterranean Europe, appears destined for an early end.

King Alfonso, the gay, sporting monarch of the Iberian kingdom, may now be spending his last few months as the ruler of his discontented people. The wave of Republicanism unleashed in a mighty tide since the deposition of General Primo de Rivera as dictator, threatens in the near future to sweep up to the doors of the royal palace and bring Alfonso's rule to a close.

The feeling against King Alfonso dates back a considerable time, but it has been only with the less iron-handed methods prevailing under the government of Premier Damaso Berenguer that the Republicans have been able to hold popular demonstrations. These have revealed beyond question that Republican sentiment in Spain is extremely widespread and furnishes a very dangerous threat to the throne of Alfonso.

International News Service dispatches from Madrid have indicated that Alfonso may abdicate voluntarily before the year is out. It is understood he may sacrifice his throne in favor of his eldest son, Don Juan, in order to appease the Republicans and at the same time keep the royalist ranks intact, as well as perpetuating his own dynasty.

There is some question, however, as to whether the Republicans can be satisfied with such a compromise. While Jose Sanchez Guerra, former premier of Spain and "grand old man" of Spanish politics has declared himself opposed to the creation of a Republic at the present time, the rank and file of Republicans probably will not be satisfied with anything less than a completely democratic form of government.

It is regarded as highly significant that royalists have been prominently represented in the recent demonstrations which have taken place throughout Spain. Their presence is construed as meaning that Alfonso is not a particularly popular ruler even with the monarchists who form the pillars of the kingdom. To abdicate in favor of his son would satisfy them, but whether it would suit the Republicans is a question.

A few years ago Alfonso was one of the most popular sovereigns in the world. His democratic tendencies, his disarming personality and seemingly carefree spirit won him universal admiration.

Then, when the regime of Primo de Rivera was at its peak, there came a sudden change of heart among the Spanish people. Newsreels of the king at motion picture theatres which were formerly greeted with vociferous shouts of enthusiasm were thrown upon the screen to be met with a pained silence.

This silence apparently constituted a transitory stage. For now it has given way to outspoken opposition, and each of the street demonstrations of late has been characterized by cries of "Down with the Monarchy" and "Down with the King."

This Republican tide in Spain is in the nature of an "intellectual revolt." The bulk of supporters of the new movement are students, and their recognized leader is Miguel de Unamuno, one of Spain's foremost intellectuals and formerly director of the University of Salamanca. The political events in Spain during the last few years have been such as to raise this sentiment in the students to a high pitch, for they were among the chief sufferers of de Rivera's regime.

He punished student demonstrators summarily, shut down colleges and universities in wholesale lots and sent their faculties into exile across the borders. They blame Alfonso for the six year duration of Primo's regime and hold that dethronement should be his punishment for his acquiescence to Primo's rule.

Guerra summed up the feeling of the Republicans in a recent speech at Madrid, when he said: "I shall never more serve those whom the worms can eat."

New State Manual Has Added Features

Pictures Of Members Of General Assembly Are Included

HARRISBURG, March 7.—The current issue of the Pennsylvania Manual, more complete and informative than any which has preceded it, is now being distributed throughout the State.

The manual contains a number of new features. For the first time it carries the pictures of all members of the General Assembly in addition to the usual biographical data.

The names of all delegates to the Republican and Democratic National conventions and the biographies of all Federal judges in Pennsylvania.

Another new feature is a table showing the importance of Pennsylvania's industrial production.

Cuts and short sketches of the two new office buildings and of the third now under construction, also are carried.

The present edition is the third since the Commonwealth purchased the Smull copyright to issue it as the Pennsylvania Manual.

The edition was prepared under the direction of John C. Dight, chief of the bureau of publications and R. Evers Whitmore, the compiler and assistant director.

Measure Earth Underneath Ocean

BERKELEY, Cal., March 7.—Twenty-five miles is the thickness of the earth's surface layer beneath the Pacific ocean.

This computation was made by Perry Byerly, assistant professor of seismology at the University of California, in a report to the geological society of America.

His measuring rod was the so-called Love type wave, which characterizes the beginning or the end of every earthquake. Its vibrations travel through the surface of the earth from the site of the disturbance, shaking the crustal layer of rock as a series of hammer blows would shake the steel of a spherical tank.

Berkeley is well located for the reception of these waves from earthquakes originating on the other side of the Pacific. By comparing the time that the waves arrived at the University Seismographic station, with the quake occurred, Professor Byerly obtained the velocity of the waves.

DISABLED DRIVERS MUST PASS RIGID TEST TO QUALIFY

Bureau Issues 8382 Such Licenses After Special Examinations

HARRISBURG, March 7.—During the year 1929, Motor Vehicles Commissioner, Eynon said today, drivers' cards were issued to 8,382 men and women, physically disabled in some particular. Of this number 1280 had defective hearing. Of the deaf, operator's licenses were issued to 443 upon presentation of physicians' certificates. A total of 721 have more than two per cent. of normal hearing, and 116 are deaf mutes.

Of the remaining 7102 crippled men and women the cards granted 5051 were renewals of previous licenses. 1704 licenses were issued after an examination by motor patrolmen. 245 were passed on the basis of doctor's certificates, 93 were passed following special examination, and 9 on the basis of satisfactory examination of the infirmity.

A total of 15 licenses was revoked. 12 because of failure to take examination required, one for failure to file doctor's certificate, two because of defective vision, and three because the physical condition of the applicant was found to be such that they could not drive with safety. The card of one deaf mute was suspended because he was addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors.

The infirmity file contains the cards of numerous cases in which operators must submit to an annual examination, their condition being such that a progressive infirmity may eventually reach the point where in safety to other road users, the operating privilege must be withdrawn.

During 1929 examining units of the State Highway Patrol examined 307,722 applicants for the driving privilege compared with 257,666 during 1928.

Starlings Moving To Country Homes

HARRISBURG, March 7.—Officials of the Game Commission today pointed out that the starling nuisance, so far as large cities are concerned, will soon be at an end for the present year. Many complaints have been made by municipal authorities because of the starling habit of congregating in winter about public buildings.

At the approach of spring the huge flocks disband, the birds mate and move to the country for the summer months to raise their young. Despite the winter habits of the starlings, Commission officials say they have many good habits. They prey on all kinds of noxious insects, including the Japanese beetle.

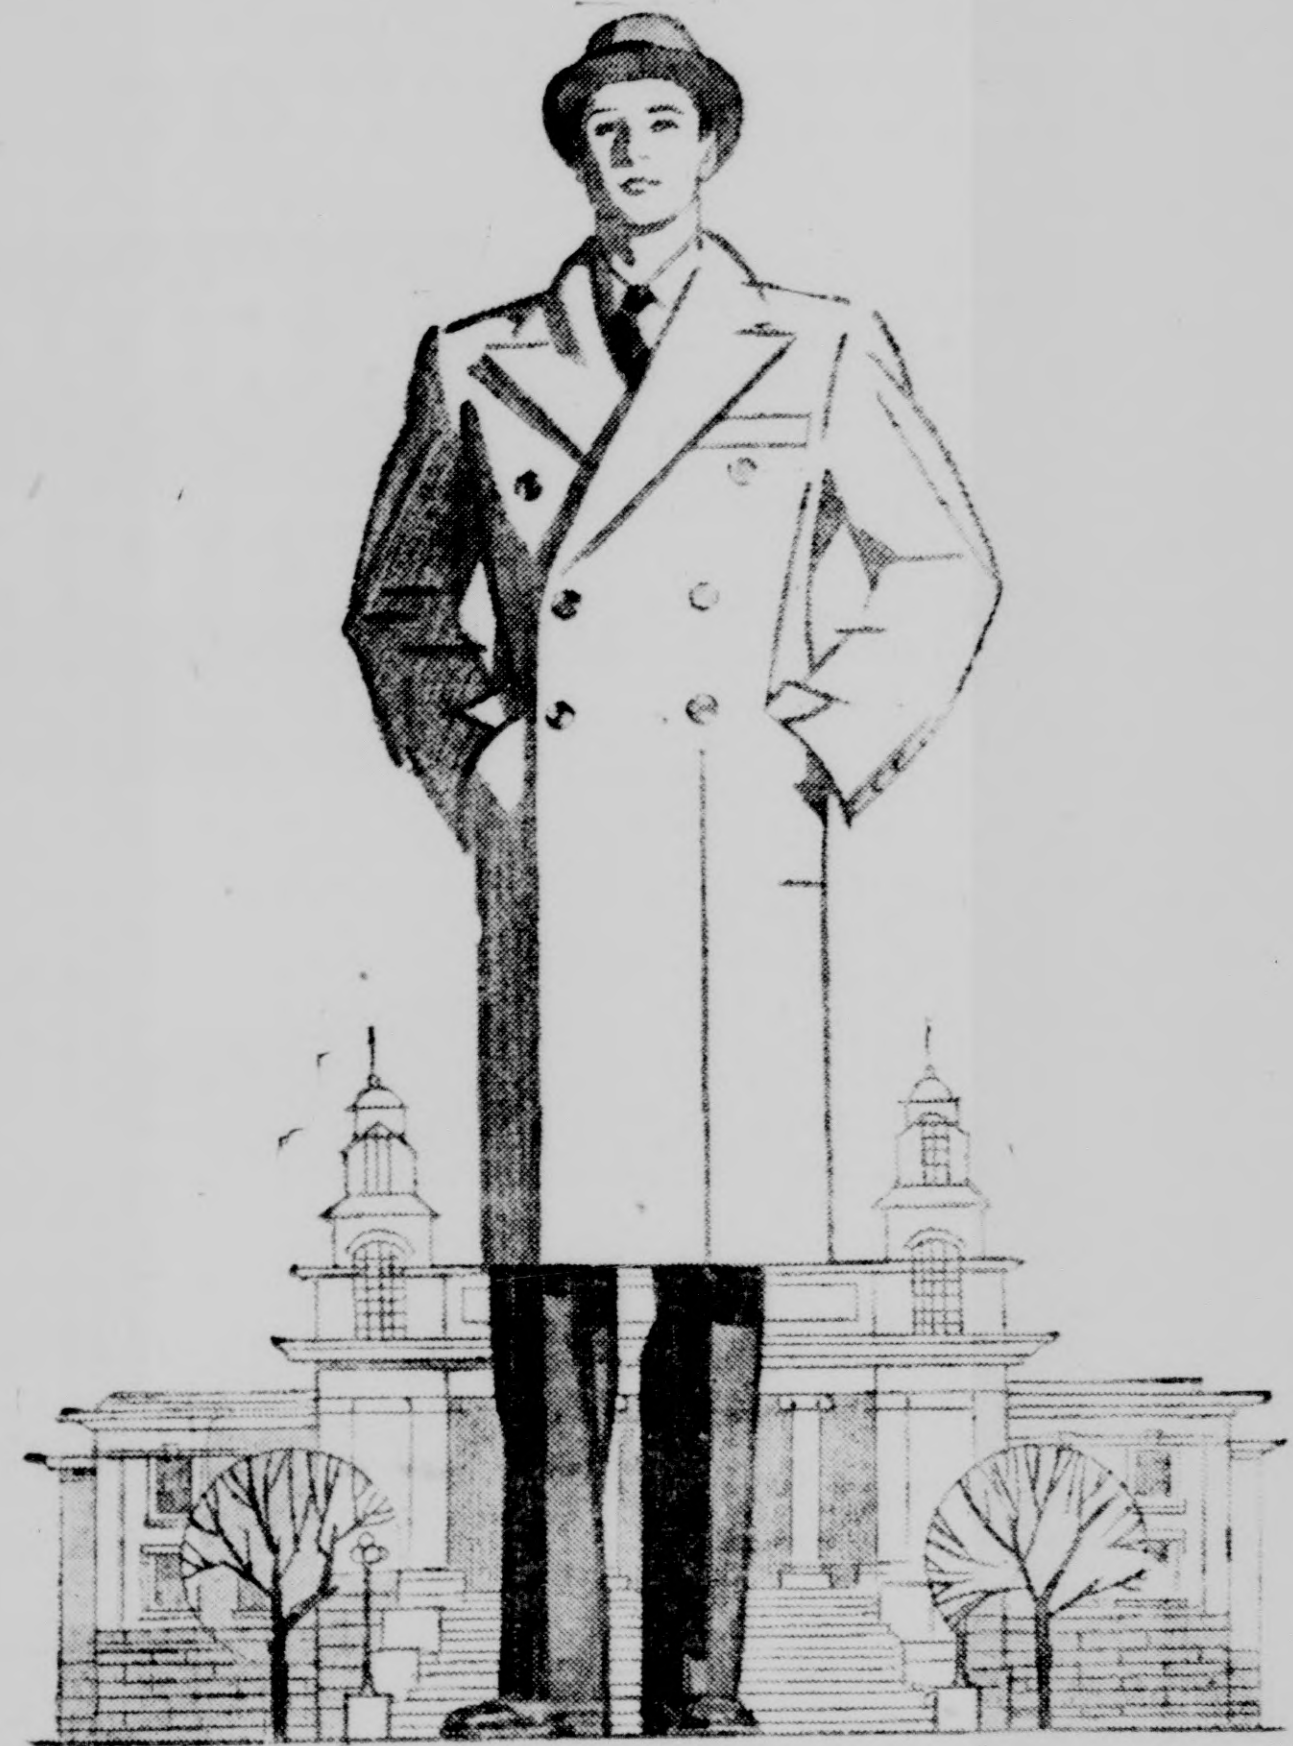

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 33

Various penalties are imposed by the statute for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time, and for making a fraudulent return. Distinction is made between failure and "willful failure" to file a return. For failure to file a return on time, the penalty is 25 per cent. of the amount of the tax, unless a return is later filed and it is satisfactorily shown to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that such failure was due to a reasonable cause and not to willful neglect. If a taxpayer exercised ordinary business care and prudence, and nevertheless was unable to file a return within the prescribed time, the delay is due to a "reasonable cause."

For willful failure to make a return the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and in addition 25 per cent. of the amount of the tax. For willfully making a false or fraudulent return, the penalty is not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or both, and in addition 50 per cent. of the amount of the tax.

Vagabond Outwits Concert Promoters

MOSCOW, March 7.—A bedraggled vagabond, shivering from cold, walked into a benefit concert.

"Ticket please," cried the young Consomol girl at the door.

"How much?" asked the bum.

"We're giving this concert for the government rags and bones fund. The admission is three kilograms of rags, five kilograms of bones, or one pair of old rubbers," replied the girl.

So the bum peeled off his ragged overcoat and placed it on the scales beside the girl. It weighed only two kilos. Undaunted he stripped off his trousers and strolled into the hall amid shrieks of laughter.

The ticket girl called a cop.

"Give the poor man his trousers," the cop said.

The shrewd hobo strolled up, picked out a much better pair of trousers than his own from the mountain of rags and took a seat just as the music started.

Theft Of Liquor Can Be Prosecuted

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 7.—Liquor is now highly valuable property.

Although it has no legal value, theft of it can be prosecuted in the usual manner as larceny or burglary.

according to a decision on file in the Appellate Court.

The decision was written by Justice Ira F. Thompson and concurred in by Justices L. R. Works and Gavin Craig in denying the appeal of Ralph Odewald, Abe Mitchell and Robert Jones from a burglary conviction in Superior Court.

Tells Dyspeptics What to Eat

Avoid Gas—Indigestion

Strict diets are often unnecessary in stomach trouble. While some foods do produce excessive acidity and many stomachs do generate "too much acid" causing gas, sourness, bloating and after-eating pains, the trouble may be safely and quickly corrected by the use of a good alkaline. Bismarated Magnesia—powder or tablets—is ideal for this purpose. Just a little after meals neutralizes all the excess acid, prevents sourness, breaks up gas and ends indigestion. Favorite foods no longer upset stomach and digestion is easy and painless. It will do all this for you or money back. Reliable druggists everywhere sell Bismarated Magnesia with this guarantee.

Boy, 5, Quotes Bible Passages With Facility

CINCINNATI, O., March 7.—If some coy young person were to approach five-year-old Jacques R. Rietze and maternally hiss, "Oh, 'tity boy 'appy?" she'd probably receive some such amazing reply:

"Exceedingly, madam. Playing with a miniature locomotive affords me great pleasure."

If the minister should walk into the Rietze home and query of Jacques, "What was the greatest factor contributing to the defeat of the Ephraimites at the Jordan?" the boy likely would reply: "They didn't know their pronunciation."

Since he was four, Jacques has been studying the Bible. He has learned more of its contents in that time, perhaps, than the average individual learns in a life time.

He knows and can furnish identities of Nebuchadnezzar, Belshazzar, not to mention the more public character of Moses, Noah and Abraham. He can deliver a sermon, quote scripture and define "metaphysics" as well as "ecclesiastic."

His one handicap is speech. So zealous is he to impart his knowledge of religious subjects to listeners, that the words fairly tumble out of his mouth. Consequently, he is rather difficult to understand in speech as well as subject.

Like normal boys of his age, he delights with his toys but even at play he mumbles Biblical quotations to himself. Once a passage is read to him, he never forgets and can repeat it verbatim.

His mother first acquainted him with the Bible. A few preliminary readings, however, and Jacques took the initiative to learn more. Mrs. Rietze cannot explain her son's unusual acumen and is fearful that he may become "not enough like other boys." However, when attempts are made to divert his mind to other subjects, his day is spoiled, his mother declares.

A month ago Jacques was ill. Noticing the distress of his mother, he clannily assured her, "Don't worry mother. Christ will cure me."

League Of Nations Robbery In Texas

(International News Service) SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 7.—All together two Mexican boys must have run about seven leagues of nations.

The two San Antonio boys entered a drug store operated by a Dutchman. They approached a Swedish cashier, and in some kind of Scotch game stole two boxes of German candy.

They were chased by an Irish cop into a Chinese restaurant owned by a Greek. Out the back door they fled into a French pastry shop and dropped the stolen goods in a vegetable stand run by an Italian, who is married to a Russian girl.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Here is an indignant saleswoman, who challenges me. What do I mean asking where saleswomen in dress shops come from! And what she'd like to know is, where do people come from who prow around shops, and who do they think they are?

Well, they THINK they are shoppers, and if they saw something they liked, and an agreeable salesperson tried to sell it, possibly they would become buyers.

"There are educated people, in fact college graduates, in department stores," the lady tells me, "and well bred people do not high-hat anyone nor do they take it from snobs."

Customers often go to colleges too and if they are spending their money and they have to wear the clothes, surely they should be permitted to look around. Snobs, my dear, are amusing to people who know better—except when you try to get service from one in a store.

"Ready to wear is on a commission basis, and saleswomen make more money—and legitimately—than some women who go in to buy—no not to buy, to look around. If women would stay at home long enough to keep their undergarments presentable, and not be known by all people in the business world for the regular LOOK-ER, when they wanted to purchase they would have no difficulty. There are many women pointed out as impossible, and we never attempt to find anything for them as it cannot be done."

That a nerve to take that for granted! To good salesperson every looker is a prospect.

"Don't think that's what we are paid for. It isn't. We are paid only when a sale is made and then only if the garment is kept. Many women take a dress out, wear it, keeping it several days, and then return same for credit."

Those are the well dressed ones you wait upon first, I imagine. My first argument, was that you can't tell by her clothes what her bank balance is. She asks me to please print what she says, as the public needs to be told a thing or two. "She signs it" One who hasn't always been a saleswoman."

That signature tells the story. She wishes she were the buyer instead of the saleswoman so she takes it out on the buyer.

Now I ask you!

Burglars Steal Old Russian Coins

(International News Service) LENINGRAD, March 7.—The police force of the entire Soviet Union is searching for a gang of thieves who made off with the almost priceless collection of gold and silver coins in the Russian museum here. The collection contained gold pieces of the Goths and Visigoths, and almost all the coins minted during the 300-year reign of the Romanoffs, ending with Czar Nicholas II in 1917. The burglars gained entrance through a skylight and worked unmolested for several hours during the night.

P. H. C. Campaign Most Successful

Members Of Circle Have Great Meeting As Campaign Closes

Enthusiasm prevailed throughout both the business and social session held by New Castle Circle No. 5. Protected Home Circle on Wednesday night. Perhaps one of the most successful events held recently in the circle was the membership campaign just closed and it was decided at the session of Wednesday night to launch another six weeks campaign with past president Helen Ray and Kate Cowles as captains of the team, with past president L. E. Dandy, as secretary for the teams.

With an unusually large attendance present many important items followed the ballot which will result in another large class for initiation at the close of the campaign. On April 24 the circle will be largely represented at Sharon, where the parent circle of the organization will exemplify the impressive and beautiful inner circle degree. Elaborate arrangements are now in progress for this event with representatives from the supreme grand and district circle present.

The social life in the local circle is always a feature of its sessions and following the business of the recent meeting another excellent program was presented with Helen Ray the guardian presiding.

Ralph Davids contributed an excellent piano selection and vocal numbers were added by Harold Welsh, Billy Brown and Merle Jackamo. A rare treat was the violin solo by Emery Back. Amos and Andy from Darktown made a big hit with their dancing accompanied by the McComahy orchestra. The Shellen trio, James Laverick, David Tucker and Bill Jones in their vocal selections.

was another big feature of the program. Doreatha Stewart shared honors with her graceful dancing while Bert Morgan, Maxine Cunningham, Betty Rainer, Marjorie Walker and Ruth Chapman delighted the circle with their Hawaiian interpretation. The break away dance by Leana Morgan was another pretty piece of work. When it comes to toying with a steel guitar past president L. E. Dandy needs no further instructions and with his whistling accompaniment added much to the excellent numbers rendered.

Pianist Harry Hammond of the Circle accompanied several of the artists and during the program the Vagabond orchestra offered splendid numbers. The program closed with lunch and an invitation to attend the card party held by the Circle next Wednesday night.

Council Members Must Keep Up With Fashions

(International News Service) FREEPORT, O., March 7.—Mayor Jesse Jenkins hasn't heard the call of his unprecedented edict that all council members should attend meetings in their "Sunday suits."

Thursday he was besieged with in-itations to express his "clean-up" ideas in various parts of the country. Letters have been received by him asking to make speeches on the subject. One came from North Carolina. Mayor Jenkins objected to members of the council attending meetings in gumshoes and soiled shirts.

Keep Kitchens Bright With LINOLEUM

Modern kitchens maintain a trim spotlessness even to every inch of their neat floors shining with cleanliness. In fact, it's the floors that give the greatest share of the spic and span appearance. How is it done? Why, with bright, new linoleums, of course. They're easily kept in this shining condition, too, and wear like iron.

Checks or neat conventional patterns are attractive in all wanted colors. Some are printed, others inlaid. Kitchens are not by any means the only rooms where linoleum may be used. It's suitable for any room in the house.

Coast Students Termed Indifferent To Religion

By DAVE S. MATTHEWS
International News Service Special Correspondent.

STOCKTON, Cal., March 7.—Indifference of students of the College of the Pacific to religion, expressed in answers to a recent faculty questionnaire, is indicative of a general attitude toward the church.

This opinion was expressed today by Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the college, in commenting on the furor raised over the announcement that only 89 out of 700 students "took the trouble" to answer a questionnaire on their attitude toward religion.

Publication of the results of the questionnaire, in which students criticized the church as "old-fashioned," brought a protest from the Stockton Ministerial association.

Dr. Knoles declined to take the view today that his students were any different than those in any other college in the country, or that their lack of interest in the church represented an isolated or unusual case.

"I have records of a more comprehensive survey than that just made," Dr. Knoles said. "The survey was made last year and embraced 298 students instead of 89. But it squares with that taken this year."

"Both surveys indicate that 30 per cent of students are going to church. A recent survey at Northwestern university indicated a similar proportion in church attendance."

"This indicates that college students maintain just as good an average as do the adult church members. The average church has only between 30 and 40 per cent of its membership actually attending services, and the students are meeting that average."

Prof. Paul A. Schlip, head of the philosophy department of the college, who made the survey, said his statements relative to the indifference of students toward religion were "based on facts," and that he believed the average church attendance of students was diminishing.

Among Stockton ministers, especial concern was expressed because so few students even bothered to indicate what they thought about religion.

"I am much exercised over the report," the Rev. Alvin B. Carr, Presbyterian clergyman, said. "It is appalling to me as a churchman to realize that there was so little interest in the questionnaire, 611 of the 700 blanks not being returned."

FIRE BUGS TERRIFY CITY
Operations of incendiaries at Christ-church, N. Z., have caused almost a reign of terror there, particularly in the business district. In three weeks there were 12 suspicious fires, which caused damage totaling more than $250,000. Complaints have been made that the police force is inadequate, and a strengthening of the detective force has been urged.

Hear Testimony In Phone Case

New Wilmington Citizens Present Appeal For Better
Phone Service

HEARING HELD IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, March 7.—Charges of laxity and of neglect for rehabilitation of the plant of the New Wilmington Telephone Company, which serves 400 subscribers, were laid before a public service commission hearing here Thursday afternoon.

Complaints regarding the service emanated from the New Wilmington town council and the commission granted a rule to show cause why the company's plant should not be rehabilitated.

Dr. S. E. Calhoun, member of the council, told the commission that two years ago a conduit was built to give Westminster College, which the company serves, proper service. Despite the laying of the conduit, Dr. Calhoun declared, the cable never was run through it. Dr. Calhoun charged the wires are run from the street and connections made with trees in order to reach the college.

"The commission's order that proper service be given patrons must be carried out," was the warning to A. W. Thompson, president of the company.

B. H. McQuiston, also a member of the town council, testified to alleged lax methods in the company's office. McQuiston told of a visit to the telephone office to pay a bill.

A young lady employee in the office, busily engaged in working out a crossword puzzle, accepted the check and handed it over to R. J. Totten, McQuiston said, she resumed her work on the crossword puzzle.

H. J. Huether Jr., telephone engineer for the commission, testified that he thought the company's office was a "junk shop" on his first visit to the premises. Huether said that the office had afterward been put in better condition.

A highlight of Huether's testimony was his assertion that one of the officers of the company "wanted to put the gloves on with me!"

Decision on the case will be rendered later. The hearing was concluded with a warning to President Thompson that orders of the commission relative to the provision of proper service to patrons must be complied with.

Day Of Prayer Calls Hundreds

Annual Day Of Prayer For Missions Is Being Observed Throughout The World

At 10:30 this morning the women of the community wended their way to a retreat in the First Presbyterian church of the city to observe the annual day of prayer for missions, which is being held throughout the world by Christian women of all denominations, races and nationalities.

Mrs. J. L. Stratton opened the meeting with a word of greeting saying this year's meeting is of special significance inasmuch as it fits in with the preliminary preparations being made for the celebration of the 1900th anniversary of the founding of the church, which movement started in the upper room when the Holy Spirit descended in the form of a dove on the little gathering. Mrs. Stratton asked if we are doing our best to bring glory to the name of God and prayed the women present to put forth even more effort in the future.

Miss Lewis and Miss George pleased the women with an appropriate sacred musical duet, whose tone fitted in perfectly with the devotional attitude of the women. Silent prayer followed their song, with Mrs. A. J. Randles, wife of the pastor of the Second U. P. church closing.

Mrs. S. E. Irvine, pastor's wife of the First United Presbyterian church, spoke briefly on prayer and what benefit we derive from communal attitude with the heavenly Father in this way, whether the prayers be made silently or in public.

Rebecca Garving rendered a most pleasing cantata solo and was followed by Mrs. W. E. McClure, wife of the pastor of the First Presbyterian church who gave a brief yet interesting talk on the subject of prayer and missions.

The closing period of the morning service was conducted by Mrs. C. S. Joshua, wife of the pastor of Croton avenue Methodist church. This was a consecration service, in which the ministers' wives and the women present consecrated themselves to the carrying out of the word of God and the work of the missions.

The afternoon session began at 1 p. m. and members of the various churches took part. There was singing by the Welsh singers, the members of the colored churches, the Swedish singers and singers from the Primitive Methodist church.

The afternoon theme was "That Jesus May Be Lifted Up" and different phases of this subject and views from different viewpoints and angles were reviewed by Mrs. Martha Kettler of the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Alex Johnston of the Mahoning church, Mrs. A. C. Gardner of the Reformed Presbyterian church, Mrs. T. S. McAnis of the Highland United Presbyterian church, Mrs. Harry Miles of St. John's Lutheran church, Mrs. C. S. Joshua of the Croton avenue Methodist church and Mrs. W. H. Williams of the First Baptist church.

There were in attendance at both services women from every congregation in the city, with a number of different nationalities being represented as well as a number from the colored churches.

Safety First Cars Being Sent Here

New York Central Placing Three At East Side For Exhibition—Notes

Three safety first display coaches, used by the New York Central railroad for demonstration purposes all over the system, will be brought to New Castle early next week and placed on public display at the east side freight yards of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie road. The cars will be on public exhibition all day Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, it is announced.

According to P. & L. E. officials who arranged to bring the cars here, the three are taken about over the various divisions of the New York Central lines chiefly to impress upon those who inspect them the importance of safety first. There will be safety first posters of different kinds, and novel suggestions for preventing accidents.

During the stay of the coaches here, special safety first films will be shown by company men. Senior high school students will see the film on Tuesday, March 11 and those of both junior highs on Thursday, March 13. The company's program is in line with the safety first program being sponsored in the city's schools.

This week the coaches are on display at Youngstown and next Monday will be brought to the New Castle Junction before being routed to the freight yards here.

PAY CHECKS DUE.
The regular semi-monthly pay day for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad occurs tomorrow.

Mail Order Love Affair Hits Shoals

EASTON, Md., March 7.—Act five is now in progress in the domestic trials of a 38 year old widower and a winsome 21 year old girl, growing out of their December-May wedding a month and a half ago.

The principal characters are William F. Leonard, the wealthy widower, and Jean Frances Schillings, of Baltimore, the girl. Other members of the cast are attorneys, court clerks and judges of this town.

A brief synopsis of the drama is in order.

Act I—Leonard and the girl meet one day last month after some correspondence.

Act II—He wants a wife, she, a husband. They marry after a two-day courtship.

Act III—Two days later, they separate. She leaves his home in Easton and returns to Baltimore, saying she couldn't live in a "thick town." Native much enraged.

Act IV—A week later, Leonard files suit here for divorce. Girl counters with alimony suit.

Act V—The girl comes on the scene and admits she lived with her aged husband for only two days. She denied Leonard's allegation that she smoked, drank and swore.

In Act four, Leonard complained that his young wife had contracted the marriage through a fraud and in the desire to mulet him of money.

The girl in reply filed with clerk of Circuit Court of Talbot County here states, "I didn't."

She then launches into an attack against her aged hubby. The words of her answer stripped of their tiresome legal verbiage follows:

"I met and discussed marriage with Leonard only upon marked and insistent demands by him and after extensive correspondence done in his behalf by a friend, Lacy Butler, of Caroline County. I expressed myself as disinclined to accept the proffered marriage in view of his age and the lack of even necessary appointments in the home that are conducive to health, if not comfort."

"After some hours passed by Leonard in outlining to me an elaborate amelioration of the aforesaid aspects I was persuaded to accept the marriage proposal and to marry the old man Tuesday, January 7th."

"His home did not even have hot water and heat. On the night of the date of the wedding he subjected me to great cruelties and the following day I spent in trying to create in his mind a more wholesome mental and physical attitude."

"I threatened to leave. He promised to improve. He failed and I left for Baltimore, my home town."

GUN SHOT IN HEAD KEEPS MAN AWAKE

BUDAPEST, March 7.—Paul Kern, famous welfare worker of Hungary, hasn't slept for 15 years.

One June 24, 1915, he was shot in the head in a street fight near Lemberg, Poland. The bullet wound caused a nervous disease which has not allowed him to sleep during the past 15 years. A Berlin clinic has offered to cure him.

Grim Museum Has Skulls On Display

LONDON, March 7.—What is said to be the grimmest museum in the world has been established at the Royal College for Surgeons by John Hunter.

The museum contains rows on rows of grinning skulls—3,000 of them. The skeleton of Charles O'Bryon, the Irish giant, stands in a corner displaying its 7 feet 8 inches of height.

The war museum contains plaster casts of every kind of wound. The most unusual is that of a finger of one man which was blown off and into the thigh of another.

A historical section contains a rib of Robert the Bruce, both hands of one of the sons of John of Gaunt and two portions of the small intestine of Napoleon.

Swimming Suit Buying Simplified

(Portland News Service) PORTLAND, Ore., March 7.—The trials of the swimming suit salesman are over. Technicians of a Portland knitting mill have perfected a device which will tell bashful maidens their correct suit size without disclosing their weight.

As swimming suit sizes are based on gross weight of the individual rather than bust or hip measurements, dealers have found that women, especially the younger set, generally discount their weight at least 10 pounds and the next day return the suit as too small.

The new device, known as a "size-o-meter," operates as a scale but instead of showing the results of neglected diet registers the size of the suit the individual should wear.

Workman Has Metal Skull Cap

BERLIN, Mar. 7.—With three-quarters of his skullcap removed by an operation and replaced by a metal cap, Frank Steinberger, 21-year-old workman, appeared at the meeting of the Medical Society, testifying to the surgical skill of Professor Dr. Winkelbauer in particular and the toughness of human physique in general.

Steinberger suffered from a tumor in his head and since there was danger of his brain becoming affected Professor Winkelbauer saved off more than the entire left part of the skullcap, operated upon the tumor, closed the skull provisionally and later replaced it by a metal skull. "To measure."

His patient appeared to enjoy perfect health.

Says Heart Is Thing Of Luxury

(International News Service) PARIS, March 7.—"The heart is a thing of luxury," says Abel Hermant, well-known French author, writing in "Comedie."

All sentiment is at a premium today, according to this Frenchman who knew Paris in the good old days before the war changed everything. He finds that modern comradeship does not exclude romance and sentiment, but only transforms it and this evolution has met with his approval.

"It has given place," Monsieur Hermant adds, "to an agreeable sort of liberty which I do not think is dangerous. I am not pessimistic about new habits and customs, but I am about society in general. There are too many wicked people in this world."

MAY DAY—HEALTH DAY.

"To bring about a nation-wide understanding of the fundamental significance of healthy childhood" was President Hoover's statement of the motive back of his proclamation for a Child Health Day.

To create a nation-wide understanding is a sweeping task to be undertaken. Only a matter of utmost importance would call forth such an effort from our president.

That it is of great importance is evidenced by the care that attended the selection and organization of the health and protection.

"Fundamental significance of healthy childhood" connects in a very definite way the health of the child with his every successful act and with his proper development or with his failure to do and with his hampered development.

It goes much farther than the handicaps of school-day life for it spells in definite terms his opportunity to grow into an useful part of community life and, in President Hoover's words again, "the good health and protection of childhood is fundamental to national welfare and the march forward of our country must be upon the feet of children."

It is the sincere concern of our president for the unhindered development and happiness of children which he feels reaches to the roots of democracy itself that has grown into a task placed upon the shoulders of earnest, capable men and women who, as the problem unfolds to a possible solution, will tax the school, the community, and the home with the peculiar tasks that belong to each.

The challenge that rings out thru this proclamation of a national child health day and again through the manifest earnestness underlying the organization for furthering child welfare must meet a peculiar and ready response in the heart of every parent—for, after all, it is our child whose importance is being stressed.

There must arise many questions in the minds of all thoughtful parents. Questions as to whether they had sensed to the fullest their responsibility in this relation of their child's health to his unhindered opportunity for development both mentally and physically. A responsibility that begins long before the child enters school. A responsibility to put a healthy not a sick child to the task of learning.

A nation-wide understanding of the need of cooperation that must reach into the home and a whole-hearted determination to get under the task will mark a profit for our country in the near future in the value of its citizenship.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

BREAD FOR THE CHILD

THE growing child, with his incessant activity, needs a generous proportion of energy-supplying foods. Bread contains a large amount of starch and protein which when utilized in the body provides this energy. It is easily digested and almost completely assimilated by the body. The child's hunger is satisfied by a food which he likes.

Bread occupies an important place in the diet of the normal individual, and properly baked bread made with milk is a wholesome, nutritious and inexpensive food.

Fortune Won In Race Lottery Dwindles Fast

Indianapolis Man's $84,000 Lost In Bad Investments

INDIANAPOLIS, March 7.—Eight months ago Arthur Court, 49, won $84,750 on a lottery ticket when an Irish bay colt, Trigo, won the English derby at Epsom Downs.

Today his bank balances have dwindled to "several thousand dollars," and Court has gone to court to save one of his investments.

Eight months ago Court was an engineer at a downtown Indianapolis building; today he can show for his luck on Trigo.

One 59-acre farm, 20 miles from Indianapolis, stocked with "some chickens," "some cows," a brick house, filling station and barbecue stand, a half-built dance hall, and a white barn with one horse—on it, not in it—the black, painted likeness of the Irish hay-muncher that brought Court his wealth.

One 200-acre farm, between Columbus and Seymour, planted with wheat. A spar mine near Elizabethtown, Ill., which Court has in litigation in an attempt to gain control and prevent the loss of his money.

An electric refrigerator, radio, second-hand player piano, a large sedan, six dozen sheets of bed linen, and furniture.

Those are his assets—or liabilities—which ever way it may be considered, and Mrs. Court, at her home, was quick to admit: "I'll be glad when the last several thousand dollars are gone."

Between last year's bearish stock market, the buying of a mine "without getting it all in writing," and the expenditure of $5,000 in the barbecue stand and filling station that haven't paid for the knobby stones used in the barbecue chimney that doesn't barbecue, Mrs. Court explained the sponging up of their Trigo winnings.

POLICE WILL NOT CLOSE NEAR BEER BARS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, March 7.—Visitors coming to Boston to view the Tercentenary celebration will find steins, brass rails and the breast high bars, replicas of the olden days, but the steins will be filled with suds far different from the real old beer that once flowed so freely.

As long as the proprietors adhere strictly to regulations and maintain a sanitary establishment, old Boston bars and brass rails may remain intact, according to Chairman David T. Montague, of the licensing board. Owners of the near-beer saloons in Boston were a bit panic-stricken over the report that all such dispensaries were to be closed up to give Boston a bone-dry appearance for the Tercentenary celebration.

Although no one was injured in the rush, proprietors of these old-time bars fairly trampled over one another in their anxiety to ascertain from the City Licensing Board if the story was true.

Chairman Montague put an end to their alarm when he declared that the report was untrue and a lot of nonsense, adding that if any of the near beer bars were to be closed it would be due entirely to the fact that it was a community nuisance.

Montague said that a census of such establishments in Boston would be taken by police, only as a matter of routine, so that closer supervision of their conduct could be maintained. It would in no way have any connection with the Tercentenary celebration.

Eminent Lecturer Discusses Young At Rotary Meeting

Dr. Guy Morse Bingham Tells
The Truth About The Young People Here Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, March 7.—Before a large attendance of Rotarians and Rotary Anns, who enjoyed a dinner-meeting in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. Guy Morse Bingham of Wilmington, Ohio, gave a most comprehensive talk on "The Challenge of Youth." He told facts concerning the so-called mad age of society, and averred that the children were no different but that the times had changed from the day of the older generation, and that youth had to be coped with accordingly. He was introduced by Attorney J. W. Humphrey.

Ed Mackasek had charge of the meeting as vice president in the absence of President W. D. Deane. Aylesworth was chairman of the program committee and introduced a mandolin club whose excellent musical selections did much toward the success of the evening. The tables were decorated with flowers and candles, and each lady guest received a sterling spoon as a souvenir. The ladies of the church served a delicious chicken menu, and a most pleasant evening was enjoyed.

The leading part "Kitty" was well-played by Miss Mary Jane Thompson. All the character parts were well portrayed as follows: "William Winkler"—Fred Bell; "Benjamin Moore"—Fred Roebuck; "Colored Sam"—James Patterson; "Ting"—Arthur Smith; "Bob Baxter"—George McKim; "Jane"—Miss Margaret Poholsky; "Aunt Jane"—Miss Bertha Caplan; "Susette"—the maid, Miss Mildred Pashin.

The "voice" telling the story of the play, was that of Miss Ruth King, who is one of the reasons for the success of the piece.

The service was held from the St. Mary's Catholic church in New Castle this morning at 9 o'clock.

Eight Hundred Attend Minstrel Show At Bessemer

Bessemer Booster Club Scores
Triumph With Presentation, Thursday Night

MANY FEATURES DURING EVENING

Some 800 people attended the minstrel show given by the Bessemer Booster club, in the Bessemer high school auditorium, Thursday night. It went off with a bang, and after several hours of witnessing clever dancing, novelty acts and musical numbers, every one of those 800 people were satisfied that the Bessemer Booster club knows how to present a real entertainment.

Sixty-five persons took part in the minstrel. Roy Wallis and Audie Johnson deserve credit in directing the show. The high school chorus helped to make the show the success it was.

Elmer Manewal and D. C. McKee were end men, and they certainly showed real talent with their various original specialty stunts. William Ekan was no ordinary actor, nor were Louis Kinkela and a company of six, who put on a novelty act and gave some numbers.

Chester Johnson and Carl Montgomery made a hit with their song selections. It was a fine show and will be numbered among the most outstanding events in the calendar of the Bessemer Booster club.

Beginning the program was a comedy skit of singing and dancing numbers by a group composed of Louis Kinkela, Joe Stanish, Ivan Carlson and Nelson Valentine, with Mrs. A. L. Heard at the piano.

Then came a novelty imitation of the famous radio entertainers, Amos and Andy. Following this, several young Italian men of the borough staged an exhibition of a peculiar kind of matching game and concluded with a native Italian song.

The act conducted by two high school girls, Dennie Radius and Mildred Bakoski, in imitation of two colored mamies, conversing, singing and dancing, was a scream. The final act was the chorus composed of high school students, fourteen Bessemer men succeeded in scoring hit after hit with comedy, song, burlesque and dances. The principals were arrayed in imitation of a real colored minstrel aggregation, with reader and men par excellence.

C. D. Montgomery started throughout the evening, with his inimitable good humor and absolute mastery of his lines as reader. E. B. Manewal and Chester Johnson, held down the end position with professional skill. Solo numbers by Mr. Johnson, Mrs. McKee, Mr. Chadwick and Mr. Sloop, provided both songs and dances.

Four high school girls, dressed as farmerettes, sang in a quartette. Miss Rowe, of the sophomore class in high school, rendered a solo dance in imitation of little Eva. Thayer Martin, also a student, sang a solo.

The actual minstrel setting and the clever makeups of the characters were perhaps the high lights of the evening. The entire production was staged with no confusion or error, and revealed a careful, cooperative preparation.

Such an event should certainly prove to be a healthy booster for Bessemer borough.

should be settled in their minds was a suitable location. They felt that the citizens should determine upon the location. Then the matter of financing the project should be determined upon, too, they felt.

Several possible sites were suggested by those in attendance. It developed that two sites were available, which could be purchased under $100,000. Among those suggested was the site of the old Martin Gantz school, which James A. Bell, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, stated, could be secured in a trade for the present court house site, he had been informed. It was felt that this location was just a little out of the way.

Another site suggested was the Kurtz property, with some additional ground, located at the corner of East Washington street and Croton avenue, but this was deemed hardly sufficient, and it was felt that it would cost too much money.

The First Christian church on the Diamond was also suggested, but this also did not seem to suit the fancy of the majority present, as it was felt too small for the purpose, and would probably cost too much money, as the church owners would have to seek another suitable location and this would enter into the cost.

Parking Problem
Parking facilities were brought into the problem, it being felt that this factor should be considered. County Commissioner P. O. Elder, jokingly remarked that he presumed that a good flat roof should be provided on the building so that airplanes could be landed there in the future, and Attorney George W. Muse, reminded him that this was not such a joke as it might sound at the present time.

Finally the consensus of opinion settled on the present location as the most feasible and W. F. Moody, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who presided as chairman of the meeting called for a standing vote on the matter, and all present were unanimous that the present location was deemed the best suitable.

Attorney Muse then offered a resolution that it was the spirit of the meeting that the county commissioners be authorized to purchase the additional ground needed for erection of a new court house at the present location, and it was passed by unanimous vote.

The matter of financing the project was then brought up by County Solicitor J. P. Lockhart.

Mr. Lockhart stated that the county was fast retiring bonds which had been issued for roads, the Gardner avenue viaduct, and the new county home. Within a few years, he explained, the peak of this bond payment would be passed. He stated that a little over a million dollars could be secured from the sale of additional bonds, without asking for a special bond issue vote from the citizens.

Should Not Raise Taxes
State Senator George T. Weingartner stated that he felt that the county commissioners should not be pushed too strongly in this regard. He stated that there were a great number of good substantial citizens in Lawrence county at the present time, who had not been able to pay their last year's taxes. They were not people who were shiftless but were honest citizens, who had not been able to procure enough work to keep them going.

Mr. Weingartner stated that there seemed to be considerable sentiment against the erection of a court house at this time by the farmers of the county, who felt that taxes must not be increased at the present time.

County Commissioner McCullough raised the question as to whether a majority of people desired a new court house.

Attorney George W. Muse stated that practically every grand jury which met during his four year term of office as district attorney, had recommended the erection of a new court house. These grand juries, he stated, represented a fair cross section of opinion, as the men called came from every walk of life and every section of the county. "Had just one grand jury recommended such a proposition, then it might not be considered a fair cross section of opinion, but when the men called came from every walk of life and every section of the county, then it must be considered as the will of the majority," he said.

"Well we just want to know," Mr. McCullough replied. "And that was one of the reasons why we were anxious to have this meeting called."

Buy Site Now
Senator Weingartner stated that he did not want to be put in the position of one throwing cold water on the project. He stated that he was just as anxious as anyone that a new court house be built, but felt that they should not be hasty. He felt that the county commissioners should buy the site now, but that the matter of erecting the building, should come at a later date.

"The county commissioners at the present time are committed to a program of building many additional roads during the coming year, and if they were to be asked to raise the funds to build a new court house at the same time, they would face a burden, which it would be almost impossible to solve," he said.

County Commissioner McCullough stated that the county commissioners were pledged to a road building program during the coming year, which would entail the expenditure of $360,000.

County Commissioner Elder also reminded those present that there were many additional road problems coming up, which would also need a considerable amount of money for the removal of the Edenburg grade crossing and the Willow Grove bridge.

Secretary Alfred W. Chilton of the Chamber of Commerce read an excerpt from the minutes of the meeting held on January 16 on the new court house proposal, in which the Chamber of Commerce had taken the stand that "the county commissioners should proceed with the matter of purchasing a site and erection of the building as soon as possible."

Build At Later Date
Those present then unanimously agreed that the county commissioners should be urged to buy the additional ground needed to erect the proposed new court house on the present site at once, and that the matter of actually constructing the building be left up to their judgment.

Those who were present at the meeting were as follows:

Lions Club—Alva Shumaker, chairman; Jack Waddington, and Dr. J. L. Reed, Rotary Club—T. W. McCullough, chairman, and Carl E. Paisley, Kiwanis Club—Rev. C. J. Williamson, chairman; and Charles B. Phillips, Wolves Club—Anthony Marino, chairman; Peter P. Capitola, and Dr. A. M. Peritano, Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars—Charles E. Allen, chairman; Ivor V. Davis, James A. Bell, and Attorney George W. Muse, Perry Post, American Legion—Attorney W. Glenn Berry, chairman; Attorney W. Walter Braham, Chamber of Commerce—Hon. George T. Weingartner, chairman; W. F. Moody, and Alfred W. Chilton, County Commissioners—Calvin C. Boyd, P. O. Elder, and Thomas J. McCullough, and County Solicitor J. P. Lockhart.

New Altitude Record

An altitude record was restored to America on March 4 if Captain Boris Sergievsky's altimeter is correct. He flew a Sikorsky amphibian, loaded with 4,415 pounds of steel ingots, 19,500 feet up in the air. Previous altitude record for loaded seaplanes was held by Lieutenant De Vassau, of France.

Sons Of American Revolution Urge Parity Of Navies

Pennsylvania Society, Sons Of American Revolution
Send Naval Delegates Message

IS DESIRED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 7.—An urgent appeal to members of the American delegation to the five-power naval limitation conference now in session in London to adopt a policy of "naval parity on the basis of naval strength with Great Britain, rather than one of naval weakness with the British or any other government" was speeding over the trans-Atlantic cable today.

The appeal was called by the board of management of the Pennsylvania society of the sons of the American revolution. American delegates to the naval parity were asked to disregard communications from pacifist bodies for a reduction of armaments.

"Such appeals have a tendency to imply an attitude of the American people that is not consistent with the opinion of the great majority of the citizens of this country," the cable declared.

It was urged "that all attempts at agreements on naval armament be considered by the American delegates only on the basis of vessels built or building."

Want No Reduction
The cable appealed to the delegates to "disagree with any proposal to reduce by destruction of American armaments unless there is an actual material destruction in the same ratio by every other nation having a navy whether or not represented at the conference, and that any considered reduction be material and not paper plans representing future construction."

Signers to the cable included Captain William J. Askin, Jr., president of the Pennsylvania society; Colonel Franklin Blackstone, director of the committee of correspondence and safety; R. C. Schanck, director-general of the National society of the Sons of the American Revolution; Dr. S. B. Linhart, president of the Pittsburgh chapter, and John L. Walker, secretary of the Pennsylvania society.

Appear In Minstrel

JOE LOVE

HARRY ELWELL

No Ambrose, this is not a picture of the Smith Brothers. Neither is it a picture of Moran and Mack or Amos 'n' Andy. It does happen to be a picture of two boys who some of us insist are as good as either of the last named pairs, for this Ambrose my boy is none other than Harry Elwell and Joe Love, reading from left to right.

Who are Harry Elwell and Joe Love? As well as New Castle folks who Cal Coolidge is, Ambrose m'lad.

The boys are good in their line and what a line. Blackface comedians and darn good ones if you ask Dad and he knows.

The two boys will be in the Jameson Memorial benefit show on March 13th and 14th. Very much in and the specialty act they will put on is guaranteed to be just what the doctor ordered. An Ambrose, a word with you before you toddle off to bed. The tickets are one buck per copy and worth every dime of it.

REHEARSALS SHOW PROGRESS FOR HOSPITAL BENEFIT SHOW; FORESEE RECORD CROWDS

formers, good salesmen, good managers, good publicity men, good ushers and a lot of good people to plank down their dollars on the line. The show has all of the elements with perhaps the latter one being under suspicion a bit as yet, but it is going to come.

Elwell and Love In
Some features are being added daily to the personnel of the cast. Harry Elwell and Joe Love, two blackface comedians who have been entertaining in these parts for nigh onto fifteen years and getting better every year have promised to be in the show. They will appear in a specialty act that needs no guarantee. Ask the man who's heard them.

The ticket salesmen report a favorable reception from people, and the way to be on the favorable reception list is to take a couple of tickets. The show is worth the dollar any time and any place. But in addition to the entertainment value of the show, the net proceeds of the evening go to the maintenance of the Jameson Memorial hospital and this alone should sell a lot of the pasteboards.

The show will be held in the Cathedral two evenings, March 13 and 14, so there need be no fear of crowding. The Cathedral holds about 3300 cash customers and filling it two nights successively would be an achievement. Let's do it.

Legion Gets Many Applications From Those Out Of Work

A Number Have Already Been Put To Work By Legion Employment Bureau

Although the American Legion Employment Bureau in room 203 in the Greer Building, North Mercer street, only opened officially today, there has already been over a hundred former service men registered, who are anxious to obtain employment.

Among those seeking employment are carpenters, bricklayers, steam pipefitters and in fact every type of skilled and unskilled workmen.

Since opening this morning, the bureau has actually placed six men to work. The public is to assist in all ways possible in providing work for these ex-service men and their dependents and to call 3216, the phone number of the Bureau, when desiring workmen of any kind.

It is for former service men and their discharge papers so that they may be registered properly and have an opportunity at some of the work available.

A DOUBLE hazard lurks here. The little toys may get poisoned or they may fall and hurt themselves badly. You can eliminate the possibility of poisoning by keeping the lethal poisons out of their reach, says the National Safety Council, but the other peril can only be combated by educating them in the folly of taking chances.

Chicago Scientist Able To Photograph Thoughts

By GEORGE C. GALLATI
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
CHICAGO, Ill., March 7.—Thoughts photographed and measured for the first time in the annals of science!

Science has accomplished the hitherto unrealized feat of measuring the muscular reaction to an idea in terms of electrical energy and has interpreted the accomplishment as almost certain proof that mental processes are functions involving the whole body rather than the brain alone.

Dr. Edmund Jacobson from his University of Chicago laboratory announces the discovery after two years spent at a series of experiments. His deduction is that thoughts in a final analysis reduce themselves to neuromuscular reactions and thus are measurable.

Dr. Jacobson did not measure the idea as it existed in the brain, but instead sealed the muscular outgrowth of the thought and recorded the result.

So delicate were the tensions in the particular arm or leg muscles responding to the imaginative stimuli that they were recorded only at a few millivolts of a volt.

To give an idea of the electrical energy involved in projecting the thought, the scientist explained that it was so slight that it would require at least 2,000,000 persons looked together and thinking in phase to light an ordinary household variety of incandescent lamp.

Dr. Jacobson measured in his experiment the thought involved in "the act of bending one's arm." In this experiment the subject did not actually bend the arm, but simply imagined the act.

Electrodes bound over the right biceps recorded the change of potential electricity accompanying the muscular tension created by the thought of flexing the member.

The record, according to Dr. Jacobson, was taken between periods of entire mental relaxation. It took two-fifths of a second from the time the subject was signalled to shift from mental quiescence into thought for the muscular reaction to the idea to begin registering.

The thought-process was "photographed" by means of a motion picture camera device which set down the vibrations of energy reacting to the thought in the arms as they were registered in the shadow of the string of a galvanometer.

One of his subjects, according to Dr. Jacobson, was able to see and hear himself think by watching the dancing silhouette and listening through a stethoscope connected with an amplifier.

—ANOTHER VARIETY—

"Mummy, what does daddy do when he isn't home?"
"Oh, daddy's a taxidermist, dear."
"Is he? Where's his garage?"—Tit-Bits.

—DEBATE—

A debate on the old and new fashions was held in New York recently, under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs. The debaters were Miss Rita Weiman, author, and Miss Gertrude Lawrence, English actress.

—TUREEN DINNER—

Members of the Women's Missionary society of the Reformed Presbyterian church were entertained all day Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. S. Riley of the Wilmington road. The hours were spent in quilting and at noon a bountiful tureen dinner was served by the women.

During the afternoon a business session was held and officers for the ensuing year chosen. President elected was Mrs. H. C. Gardner, Mrs. C. A. Holland, vice president; Mrs. R. H. Patterson, secretary; Mrs. S. L. Wilson, treasurer. Mrs. M. S. Gibson conducted the lesson hour, using the mission book "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem" as the topic.

April 4 will mark the date of the April meeting of the society.

Conference Is Planned On Air Problems Soon

Aviation Enthusiasts Will Meet At Harrisburg To Consider Further Expansion

WOODWARD ASKS PILOTS TO MEET

HARRISBURG, March 7.—Airport operators, pilots and other Pennsylvania aviation enthusiasts will be asked to a conference with the State Aeronautics Commission on Wednesday March 20, Jas. F. Woodward, secretary of Internal Affairs and chairman of the Aeronautics Commission, announced today. The gathering, which will be held in the Caucus room of the House of Representatives, Capitol Building, Harrisburg, will open at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and continue throughout the day. Representative men from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and other places where aviation operations are carried on a large scale have advised the Commission of their intention to come to Harrisburg for the meeting. Many of the leading pilots and representatives of aviation schools also are expected.

Aviation in all its phases will be open for discussion and the delegates will be asked to offer suggestions as to the most effective means of promoting and fostering flying within the Commonwealth. Weather permitting it is expected that a number of the visitors will come to Harrisburg by plane.

27 Airports
A total of 27 airports and landing fields which made application to the Aeronautics Commission have been granted licenses either to carry passengers or instruct students in flight. Other applications are pending and will be acted on by the Commission when the State inspectors have checked over the fields, maps and drawings, which are required to accompany all such applications. The Commission has decreed that fields not making application for license will be refused permission to operate and the State's aviation inspectors have been instructed to give such notice to operators.

On February 28, a total of 1689 licenses had been issued by the Commission to various aviation activities in Pennsylvania, as follows: Pilots of all classes, 475; mechanics, both airplane and engine 308; airplanes, 425; student pilot permits, 461. It is believed that when the flying season is well under way that these figures will be materially increased in all the classes.

Will Check Gypsies
With a view to protecting Pennsylvania operators who have invested their funds in opening fields, purchasing planes and employing pilots and mechanics the Commission will this season check closely on outside interests coming into State, squatting on a convenient field and carrying passengers for hire. Under the Aeronautics Act non-resident planes are permitted to come into the State and land for the purpose of refueling and the making of minor repairs, but should they remain longer than 48 hours notice must be served with the Commission. However, in cases where outside planes enter Pennsylvania with the intention of carrying passengers the owner or operator of such plane must comply with the law which requires that all operators must have a license, plane, pilot and mechanics licensed and in addition have a certificate of public convenience from the Public Service Commission.

Average Man Worth $1.25 In Chemicals

Sugar enough to fill a shaker.
Lime enough to whitewash a chicken coop.
Phosphorus enough to make 2,200 matches.
Magnesium enough for a dose of salts.
Potash enough to explode a toy cannon and sulphur enough to rid one dog of fleas.

Chinese Bandits Endanger Lives Of U. S. Missionaries

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mass., March 7.—Because of the murderous, roving bandits in China, the lives of American missionaries, their wives and children are continually in danger.

Just how long they will be able to remain in their missions, before being forced to flee in the cold of the night before the murderous assassins, these hardy missionaries do not know from one day to another.

The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, under which these pioneer men and women serve learned these facts in receiving full details of the narrow escape of Rev. George W. Shepherd, his wife Clara Sargent Shepherd, their four children, and Dr. Clara A. Nutting, formerly of North Amherst, Mass., from their mission station at Kienning, West Pukien, China.

Their present emergency location is at Tsianglo, where in spite of impending attack, they wrote they have elected to stay until another move is forced upon us. The Shepherds are the missionaries of the First Congregational church of Wellesley, Mass. and Canandaigua, New York. Shepherd, who with a Chinese associate, Lia Ching Sung, was touring his field, received at Shaowu, 80 miles from Kienning, word that the Communist raiders, under the infamous Chu Te, were within 60 miles of his home.

Knowing that the transfer to other storm centers had left Kienning practically undefended, Shepherd and Liao hurried toward home hiking 10 miles through the hazy moonlight behind troops moving to the front.

Daylight brought them a happy surprise for on the river bank at Mei Kou camped Mrs. Shepherd, Dr. Nutting, the children, and the Chinese escorts. Since delay would bring the night and make the missionaries almost certain prey to the bandit gang racking the countryside, the Americans decided to pull anchor and start downstream at once. That night they slept guarded by a gang of pardoned outlaws, who at present officially patrol that region. Hardly five miles above them, practically every salt boat was systematically looted as the bandits searched for the foreigners, because of their "fabulous wealth."

"After two more bitter cold days on the river we arrived at Tsianglo and settled down to camping in a big barn-like house erected some 200 years ago with brick ceilings 20 feet from the floor," Shepherd recounted.

Hold Truck Driver For Manslaughter

Four Reported Killed As Severe Wind Sweeps Through Mississippi And Arkansas

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS QUITE HEAVY

(International News Service.)
BLOOMINGTON, Miss., March 7.—Death and vast property destruction today lies in the wake of a severe tornado which swept through the farmlands of Mississippi and Arkansas last night. Four persons are reported to have been killed.

The devastating winds left the village of Gregory, Ark., virtually wrecked. Spreading destruction through the town, the tornado shattered churches, stores and nearly a score of homes besides injuring several persons.

Two negroes were reported killed as the winds swept across the plantations in Bolivar and Humphreys counties, Mississippi. Many were injured in this region and several tenant homes were blown down.

Two others, believed to be negroes, were reported dead after the storm swept on toward the village of Harris, La., where more than a score were injured and great property losses were suffered.

Learn the Power of Vitaminized Flaxolyn to Promote Health

Discover Why Thousands Here Report Such Wonderful Improvements in Health, Many After Suffering for Years from

Constipation	Stomach Distress	Gas
Nervousness	Liver Torpidity	Sleeplessness
Sick Headaches	Rheumatic Pains	Dizzy Spells

"Flaxolyn Feeds New Strength To Stomach and Nerves; Activates the Precious Bile Secretions of Torpid Liver; Clears Intestines of Toxic Poisons," Says Penna. Doctor.

If you are weak, tired out, flabby, pale, easily exhausted, or feel lacking in ambition and thinking power and want that energy and "pep" which wins business and social success, you should try the Flaxolyn formula at once.

Flaxolyn has been publicly recommended by more doctors than any other preparation in the history of American pharmacy. Dr. Henry Karl Mette of Philadelphia says: "I am glad to recommend Flaxolyn because of its wonderful natural merits. It is a splendid tonic-laxative. I have used it myself and find that it has a remarkably cleansing effect, that it helps to improve the body-tone and makes one feel much more invigorated and carefree."

"Flaxolyn Positively a God-Send," Says User

Mr. Victor Leibhart of Collingdale, Pa., says: "Flaxolyn is even better than you claim it to be. I tried all kinds of 'so-called' health builders but they never helped me any. National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

Just as electricity has not as yet been able to contribute anything to the actual operations of farming, so the airplane is still looking vainly for a place in the agricultural picture.

This modern marvel has its uses, of course. It flies from one place to another with swiftness and reasonable certainty, skimming high over fields, forests and rivers.

But it is precisely those fields and woods which contain and confine the labor and skill of the farmer. The airplane has found no way as yet to bring its wings down, usefully, to the furrow and windrow.

That is not to say, however, that airplanes have not been tried, and sometimes with promising results, in farm activities.

In the southwest and northwest, for example, the last outposts of the big ranch, a few owners of large or widely scattered properties use the air to get from one to another.

In the south airplanes are occasionally used for dusting poison over cotton fields to combat the boll weevil. Orchards and cranberry bogs are similarly dusted, fields have been sown with seed, hillsides with seeds of forest trees.

An occasional prize hog or cow has been conveyed to a show and home again, or delivered by air for advertising purposes.

Total up and appraise all these instances, and it becomes clear that the airplane has so far failed to find a niche for itself in any of the standard branches of farming. It is inherently what might be called a wholesale tool, where agriculture demands retail methods, exactness and close application.

It may be, too, that a personal element enters into the matter. It is a very exceptional pilot who is willing to fly back and forth across a cotton field, guiding himself closely by markers, and releasing just so many pounds of calcium arsenate at each round. His tastes are much more apt to run to high and distant flights, the freedom of the upper air, or the precision of the air mail or passenger lines.

The technical agricultural airplane pilot is still to be developed. There is certain no prospect of his early advent, for there is no need for him apparent, as yet on the nation's farms.

PRISON HANDY MAN HOPES FOR EARLY PAROLE

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Mar. 7.—The handy man of San Quentin's ancient table hopes for an early parole.

He is Harry S. New, Jr., 42. Ten years ago, New entered the state prison to serve a ten-year to life sentence for second degree murder. His term will be fixed shortly by the State Prison board, it was learned today.

New is employed as an assistant, but is known as the "handy man" within the prison reservation. He is subject to call 24 hours in the day, driving prison automobiles between the stable and the warden's office. He has charge of all the cars in the stable.

"They call it the stable, but we have more automobiles than horses," New said. "I don't figure why they don't rename this old barn the garage and be modern."

During the administration of Warden Frank J. Smith, New was chief chauffeur and drove the prison executive to all parts of the state.

"I see as much of the country as I did before," New explained, "as Warden Holohan doesn't permit me to drive more than six miles away from here. That's a new regulation."

A neatly furnished room in the stable is New's "cell." He is one of the few inmates permitted to sleep outside the walls.

New was sentenced in Los Angeles for killing his sweetheart, Miss Frieda J. Lesser, who had refused to marry him. He took her for an automobile ride, killed her, drove to police headquarters and confessed.

Despite his defect of insanity he was sentenced to San Quentin, entering on February 3, 1920. He worked during the first three years in the jute mill, the prison quarry and the flower garden, being transferred to the stable as "handy man" in 1923.

KANSAS CITY MEN MISS CHANCE TO WEAR TOP HATS

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 7.—A group of Kansas City business men recently made an airplane trip to Mexico to witness the inaugural of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico. Each fitted himself with a natty

The plane reached Tulsa the first day out and there was delayed past the day of the inaugural by fog. The trip to Mexico was resumed several days later but the morning suits and top hats remained in a virginal state—unused.

A million women approve of this new cake flour!

Only a cake flour of truly outstanding quality could win more than a million users during its first year. There could be no stronger proof of the superiority of Pillsbury's Cake Flour than the approval of the million women who have tried it.

Baking tests show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a softer, finer texture. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

You probably know some recipes that are unusually difficult and delicate. Use them as a test for Pillsbury's Cake Flour. Examine the cakes carefully—before you have finished the first package we believe you'll be convinced that here at last is a truly perfect cake flour—something you'll want in your kitchen constantly.

Pillsbury's Cake Flour

Here is a new convenience—a sensible, practical, beautiful plate for serving cakes. It stands up from the table on three little legs, so you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass in a graceful, attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure, worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

Tenants Remain As House Is Moved

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., March 7.—Tenants of a three-story brick apartment building here pursue their household routine regardless of the fact that the entire structure is slowly being moved to a new location.
A local street widening project made it necessary that the apartment be moved to feet.

Not desiring to lose his tenants, N. N. Mayo, owner of the building, made arrangements to have sewer, gas and water connections remain intact in order that the occupants would not be inconvenienced. Operation of the heating plant also continues.

The building weighs 3500 tons and will be re-located by May 1.

Toast that Never Burns!

How simple it is! The illustrations at the left show an amazing new way to make toast—automatically.

There is no need to watch this toaster, and you can do other things while the bread is toasting. There will be no scorched toast, and never any scraping to make the toast edible. You do not have to be on the lookout for that thin column of smoke, and then rush over to the toaster to turn it off. For with this new toaster, the current is turned off automatically when the toast is done.

The Toastmaster toasts the bread on both sides at once, just alike, an even golden brown, and you will not have to look for the best side to butter. The enclosed oven seals in the flavor, and the toast is piping hot clear thru, and the taste—you will be surprised at the difference.

Warns Cotton Men Against Overplanting

Face Repetition Of 1926 If Too Great A Crop
Is Grown

REDUCTION IN SIZE OF CROP IS URGED

By HANFORD REED
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

DALLAS, Texas, Mar. 6.—Cotton farmers of the Southland will invite a loss of one billion dollars through overproduction in 1930, if they plant more than forty million acres of cotton staple this spring. Their loss will be a repetition of the 1926 disaster.

This prediction was made to about 300 bankers, business men and agriculturists gathered in conference at Dallas.

The forecast, with suggestions for defeating the possibility of its realization through acreage reduction, was voiced by speakers representing the Federal Farm Board, the Federal Reserve Bank and the American Cotton Co-operative association. In contrast with the 1929 crop a reduction of at least 6,000,000 acres was urged by every speaker.

The cotton price problem was asserted to be the chief concern of every cotton farmer in the cotton producing section of the country since for every dollar of new wealth invested 50 cents must come from the soil, and chiefly from cotton in Texas, where 15,000,000 acres were planted last year.

Bankers were warned not to lend money for crop production purposes to farmers who were not prepared to raise their own feed and food crops at home as a part of the plan to cut cotton acreage.

It was shown by comparative figures that a smaller crop from smaller acreage was more valuable to the farmer in actual cash return than a large crop on more acres.

The comparison was made in demonstrating statistics of the 1923 and 1924 crop price ranges, the latter year's production of 18,000,000 bales selling for less than one billion dollars, involving a loss that year of $600,000,000, and by virtue of the heavy carry-over of $400,000,000 on the next year's crop.

EARTH RINGS

By S. S. MYERS

"Popular Science Monthly predicts that the earth will eventually have rings like Saturn, caused by the breaking up of the moon. Isn't that rather a far fetched idea?"
(A Student, New Castle.)

That possibility is suggested by Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of Harvard Observatory, and anything that Dr. Shapley says is worthy of consideration.

It has always been supposed that the rings of Saturn were formed by matter thrown off from the body of that planet while it was yet in a molten, gaseous state and that the rings, instead of condensing into a moon, were so evenly balanced as to matter that they cooled off as rings. It is known that these rings are composed of billions of particles of solid matter and the latest theory is that they were at one time a moon and that it approached so near to the planet that the gravitational influence of Saturn produced a tidal wave which disrupted it and scattered the fragments thus forming the rings.

It is also known that our moon is slowly approaching the earth because of the gradual slowing down of the solar system. The theory advanced by Dr. Shapley is that when our moon approaches within a certain distance of the earth it will produce a tidal wave upon the moon that will disrupt it and break it up into fragments which will form a ring like a stream of meteors around the earth.

You might ask "How can the earth produce a tidal wave on the moon which is a burned out, solid body?"

Well, the earth has produced a tidal wave on the moon which is not perfectly round but is shaped something like an egg with the elongated part always turned toward the earth. Furthermore, the moon causes a tidal wave on the earth, not only on the oceans, but also on the continents. However, the gravitational pull of the earth is much greater than that of the moon which is the smaller body. Consequently the larger body would disrupt the smaller one.

Of course the idea, as you suggest, is in a sense far fetched, because Dr. Shapley calculates that it will be fifty billion years before the thing happens.

TEN HERBS HAS NO EQUAL FOR CERTAIN ILLS

Says New Castle Lady, After New Medicine Restored Her Health.

MRS. LAURA SHAFFER

When sick, discouraged men and women use Ten Herbs, the famous new natural medicine, and gain freedom from such health troubles as stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, nervousness, rheumatism and neuritis, they want to help others, so they tell the public about the remarkable merits of this successful compound. That is why so many people are endorsing Ten Herbs in the daily newspapers. No wonder there is such a great demand for Ten Herbs at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where this popular preparation is being introduced.

"There is no other medicine so good as Ten Herbs for a weak, nervous, run-down condition, or stomach trouble," was the recent statement of Mrs. Laura Shaffer, 130 1/2 Quest street, New Castle. "I speak from experience, as your medicine caused a great improvement in my health. I felt worn-out all the time, and there were pains in my arms and head. My stomach was so badly disordered that certain kinds of food caused great distress. My appetite was poor, and I was so nervous that I could not sleep well. I was also troubled with constipation."

"I read about Ten Herbs in the paper, and started using your medicine. Before long that worn-out feeling, headaches, and pains in my arms and head disappeared. My stomach got in such good condition that I could eat anything without having distress afterwards. My nerves were benefited, and then I could get sound, restful sleep. Constipation was corrected. I gladly endorse Ten Herbs to the public because of the way it ended my ailments."

Ten Herbs consists of ten wonderful herbal ingredients, which cleanse the system of old poisons, waste matter, impurities and troublesome gas, and bring feelings of new health and strength over the body in general. Remember, every claim made for Ten Herbs is backed by a mass of evidence on file, including signed statements of many men and women of this section. Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

NEW HAMPSHIRE TESTS SOIL FOR ROAD BUILDING

(International News Service)

CONCORD, N. H., March 7.—The New Hampshire State highway department has inaugurated a system of practical application of scientific soil research to the construction of modern hard surfaced thoroughfares. It is the closest approach to complete sub-soil control yet developed which is in actual operation in this state for the first time in America.

Under a series of soil tests the underlying difficulties which have hitherto affected the durability of hard surfaced highways are being eliminated. Experts make borings of three to five feet at intervals of a few feet over the entire section of the road under construction. Tests of sub-soil thus revealed determine the character of local construction to be employed.

New Hampshire soils are placed in eight characteristic groups. In this state the basic composition of soil is either of silt, sand or clay each offering individual problems in frost expansion and drainage, two conditions which are vital to the durability of such highways as are being constructed.

Tests are applied to determine the least amount of water which will cause a given soil to flow. Because of the prevalence of silt, and the most highly absorbent of the three soils in New Hampshire, the tests are essential to the preparation of foundation material for modern roads.

In soils which retain a large amount of moisture without adequate drainage, this tendency creates a pressure underneath which causes upheaval of the surface and eventual serious damage to that section of the road under which the offending soil is present.

"Simple Life" Leader Sought After By Men

STORRINGTON, England, Mar. 7.—Through an article in a London paper in which she extolled the wonders of simple life at her colony, the Sanctuary, Vera Pragnell is one of the most sought-after young ladies in England. Some 80 males, seeking wonders of simple life, have proposed marriage to her. But they're doomed to disappointment, for she is married to Edward Denis-Earle, a wealthy young heir.

He Denies Paternity Of 25-Year-Old Son

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Ill., March 7.—"I am not the father of my wife's son who sits there in the back of the court room." And with these words, William Hocking, 52, Streator, turned into a bedlam the circuit court here during hearing of a petition of his estranged wife for alimony and fees pending settlement of her suit for divorce from him.

"He isn't my boy," the man declared pointing an accusing finger at Bartholomew Hocking, 25. "Twenty-five years ago my wife was intimate with another man. He was the father of that boy."

"He lies and he knows he lies when he says he was not the father of our boy," Mrs. Hocking sobbed. "He has bedlam the circuit court here during accused me of not being faithful to him but never before did he make a charge like that."

The son corroborated his mother's testimony as to Hocking's alleged cruelty. Mrs. Hocking is seeking divorce on grounds of infidelity.

OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

MORE ABOUT WORRY

Probably fifty per cent of our worry is concerned with things that are over and done with. We worry about actions, failures, mistakes, errors, oversights that happened yesterday. Ordinary common sense tells us, or should tell us, that it is too late now to correct yesterday's procedure. . . . Very likely we acted yesterday in accordance with the best judgment of which we were capable at the time; we acted in the best light that we had. Today we see things differently. Unfortunately it is too late to apply today's judgment to yesterday's problem. It is too late to turn today's light on opportunity or action that is past and gone.

The healthy, calm, serene mind checks off yesterday when today has come. Today one can undertake a new policy, go forward on a new basis, begin the building of a new road. And perhaps, after all, what you did yesterday, under the circumstances, was best.

TRIFLING

Attention how much tiresome attention we give to matters that are really of trifling importance. Is not one reminded of the wise Frenchman, La Rochefoucauld, who said: "The calm or agitation of our temper does not depend so much on the important events of life as on an agreeable or disagreeable adjustment of little things that happen every day."

HE WAS GOOD-HEARTED

It is faint, praise to say a man is good-hearted, or to say, at his funeral, that he WAS good-hearted. This same La Rochefoucauld once sagely remarked that "nothing is so rare as real goodness of heart. Even those who fancy they are possessed of it have in general only complaisance or weakness of character." That sounds cruel, but perhaps it is cruelly true. Check up on your friends. Better than that, check up on yourself. Many of us think we are kind and tolerant when the real fact is we are without convictions. We do not care. Thus we agree with anybody and are willing to believe anything. Before you brag of your generosity and tolerance be sure you are tolerant about something that you really care about.

HARD TRUTH

What is truth asked Pilate. And, as Bacon said, Pilate would not wait for an answer. Pilate did not care much for truth. He wanted to get through with an unpleasant, inconvenient job. So with most of us. We pretend we are interested in truth. We read books and even seem to seek for it. Mostly what we want is to be let alone in our most comfortable beliefs. Men hate to give up what they have fondly thought was truth just as they hate to have the furniture moved in the living room. Real truth may be jagged, hurtful, wounding. It may keep you awake. And yet, in the acceptance of truth is the only real victory of the mind and soul.

Her Own Mob

An Italian woman was running down the street to catch a train, and behind her came her 15 children. Just before she reached the station a cop stopped her. "Here, lady, what have you been doing?" "I no do anything," said she. "Then why is that mob following you?"

USE OF KONJOLAHealth And Strength Restored To
Of New Compound.

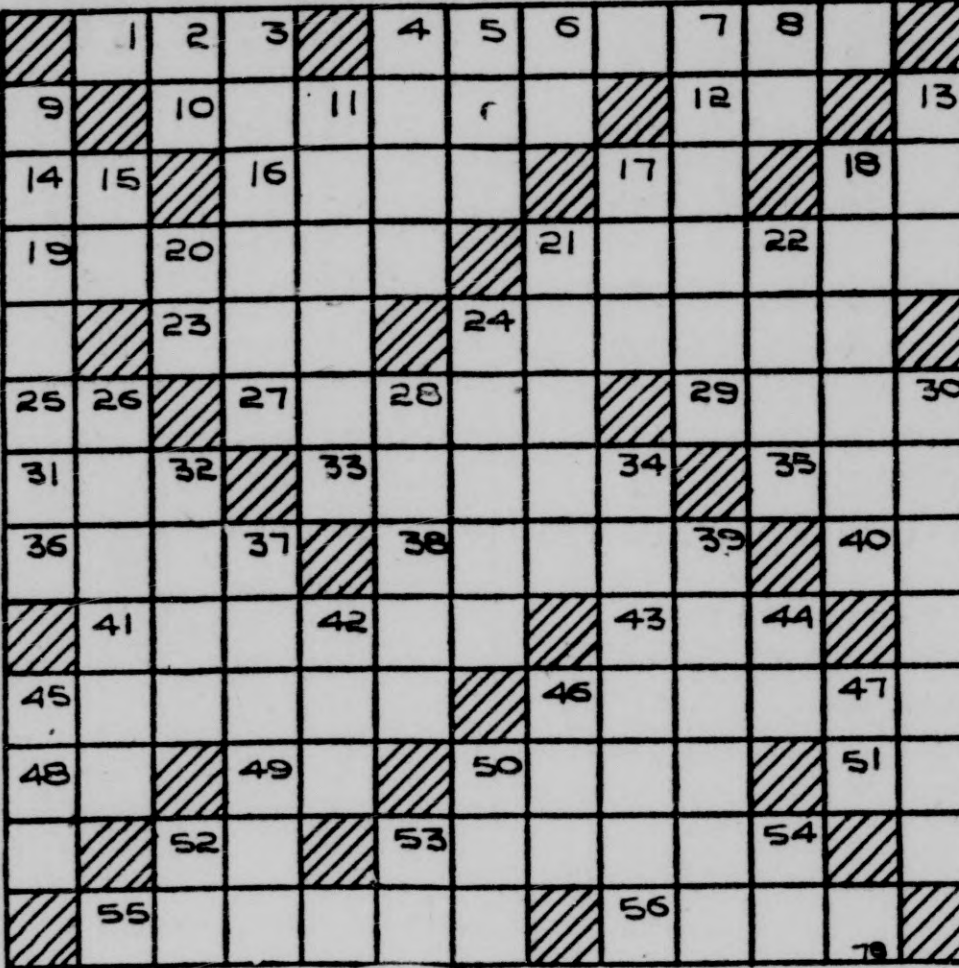

MRS. JANE ANN NELSON

"In all my sixty-four years of life I have never found such a wonderful medicine as Konjola," said Jane Ann Nelson, 110 Lane avenue, Punxsutawney, Pa. "For five or six months I was in constant and dreadful pain from neuritis. It attacked me in the lower back, and I was confined to my bed for a week. I grew nervous and my liver and bowels became sluggish, subjecting me to constipation, bilious attacks and dizzy spells.

"I tried many medicines without relief. I finally began taking Konjola and knew almost at once that I was on the right track. The pains in my back have left me and my nerves have steadied wonderfully. I do not suffer from constipation and my liver is functioning better than it has in a long time. My work is a lot easier, as my energy returns, and I am gaining strength and weight, for my appetite is excellent. I cannot say enough in praise of Konjola.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE VINCENT

BABY CANNIBALS

"Why do Wasp and Hornet pick on poor Methuselah to be mean to?" asked Peter.

"I don't know—it suits their purpose, I suppose," answered that Gun-Beetle, Biffer. "But stinging him isn't all those insects do to Methuselah when they meet him. As soon as their victim is unable to move a wing or claw they drag him into a hole in the ground, plump him into it and call Mrs. Wasp or Mrs. Hornet to come and lay her eggs near him. Then they seal Mr. Methuselah up tight."

"What, alive?" gasped Peter. Biffer nodded.

"Uh huh! And poor Methuselah stays alive until the eggs hatch out into little wasps or hornets."

"Then what happens?" Peter was horrified but curious. Biffer didn't spare the boy's feelings.

"Then the little wasps and hornets eat Methuselah up and grow fat and strong!" said he, and chuckled. "Thoughtful of Pa and Ma to provide a meal for the babies, don't you think so?"

"Horrible of them I call it!" Peter shuddered. "Why, I didn't know Wasp and Hornet were cannibals!" Biffer chuckled his beetle chuckle.

"Lots of things you humans do not know about us insects, I guess!" remarked he. "But now that I've told you everything, you do not blame Methuselah and his wife from wishing their sworn enemies to keep away from their happy home, do you?"

At this point, Peter overheard Methuselah talking.

"It does seem absurd," declared the old Cicada. "Just the same, it's true!"

Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

God be merciful unto us and bless us; and cause His face to shine upon us, that Thy way may be known upon the earth. Thy saving grace among all nations. Let the people praise Thee, O God; let all the people praise Thee. O let the nations be glad and sing for joy; for Thou shalt judge the people righteously and govern the nations upon earth. Let the people praise Thee, O God; let all the people praise Thee. Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God, shall bless us. God shall bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear Him. Again, our Heavenly Father, our flag is at half-mast. Again the shadows of death have fallen across our pathway. Graciously remember those who are in mourning, and may they hear the voice coming down through the skies saying, "Learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls." Amen.

$36,000 Equipment

DENVER, March 7.—Twenty firemen, operating $36,000 worth of equipment turned out when Galeno Huerto's 1917 flivver, valued at $15 burst into flames here.

Huerto failed to state the nature of the blaze when he called the fire department. Believing the fire to be serious, two pumpers worth $13,000 each and a wagon, valued at $8,000 were dispatched to the fire; six men rode on each vehicle and Chief William Bryan rode in the district fire director's car, costing $2,000. A short circuit in Huerto's motor caused $2 damage.

Cut glass pieces should be scrubbed with a stiff brush, rinsed and polished with a soft dry towel. For vinegar cruets, a little ammonia is effective in removing any sediment that might cling to the surface. Silver caps and handles should be gone over with polish and washed in soapy water. A small, long-handled dish mop or a bottle brush is helpful in reaching the inner surface of articles with small openings.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
A good definition of a parable was given by a child in the words, "A parable is an earthly story with a heavenly meaning." In Matthew 13 we have seven such "earthly stories" of a sower sowing seed, an enemy sowing tares, another sowing a mustard seed, a woman hiding yeast in meal, a man finding and hiding a treasure in a field, a merchantman finding in pearl of great price and fishermen drawing in their net.

To these common, every day occurrences our Lord attached heavenly meanings as he likened the kingdom of heaven to these familiar scenes.

The Parable of the Sower

The first of these parables, generally called the Parable of the Sower, might as truly be called the Parable of the Soils for the four results attending the sowing of the same seed from the hands of the same sower. Taking our Lord's explanation of the second parable as applying to all of this group of parables, we conclude that here, too, "he that soweth the seed is the son of Man," and "the field is the world." So Christ is the one we are to picture when we read, "Behold, a sower went forth to sow; and when he sowed, some seeds fell by the wayside, and the fowls came and devoured them up." Our Lord's own explanation of this is, "When anyone heareth the word of the Kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart. This is he that received seed by the wayside." These represent the attitude towards the kingdom that is hard and impervious to spiritual influences. Call it "hard-headed," "hard-boiled," "hard-hearted," or "gospel hardened," as you choose. They have allowed the traffic of materialism to so beat upon their spirits as to preclude the entrance of spiritual influences.

The Impulsive Attitude

If the first kind of soil represents the impervious heart the second represents the impulsive heart. "Others fell upon rocky soil, where they had not much earth, and straightaway they sprang up because they had no depth of earth." "This is he that heareth the word, and straightaway with joy receiveth it; yet hath he not root in himself, but endureth for a while; and when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the word, straightaway he stumbleth." These are the shallow, unstable emotionalists. "Little pot, soon hot," and just as soon cooled off again. The attitude of superficiality brings disappointment for it yields little in spiritual fruitfulness.

The Attitude of Indulgence

The third class of hearers fail in their fruitfulness because of their indulgence in the things that are hostile to the word and spiritual growth: "Others fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked them." "This is he that heareth the word, and the care of the world, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful." It is not that they are incapable, but that their capabilities are prostituted to inferior pursuits, and their carnality chokes the spirituality to death. Their lives are pre-empted by materialism to the stifling of the spiritual.

The Fruitful Heart

Finally there is the receptive, receptive and bring again to a full rolling boil. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire, let stand one minute. Skim, pour quickly. Makes about eleven eight-ounce glasses.

tentive, productive attitude of the good soil. "Others fell upon good ground, and yielded fruit, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty." "This is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it: who verily some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty." This is the attitude that is productive of results. The harvest is yielded only in the "honest and good hearts, which having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience." One and the same sower sows one and the same good seed, but with what varied results all because of our varied attitudes towards the divine Sower and the Word of Life which He implants in our hearts.

Workmen Discover Prehistoric Tree

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., March 7. — Disturbed by workmen's boring operation, a prehistoric tree, partially petrified, crashed through the roof of the High Line Canal near Ellensburg, Wash., while the men were working 225 feet below the surface. The tree measured seven feet through the base. It was standing upright in an old lava flow which apparently engulfed the tree so quickly that it preserved it from fire and sealed it intact for generations.

Outer layers of the tree are petrified, but the heart is as it was ages ago, possibly before the volcanic blast that threw up the Cascade Mountains.

The section of the tree which fell was 25 feet long. Observers have not definitely identified the tree. Some believe it may be an extinct species.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

ROTARY SCOUT TROOP

Rotary troop No. 1 held its regular weekly meeting on Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Ben Franklin school. Twenty-four scouts were present and one visitor. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster LeRoy M. Norton. Senior Patrol Leader Herb McLure conducted the opening ceremony and dues were collected by Robert Allen, acting scribe. Each boy gave his good turn report and following this Mr. Norton spoke to the boys briefly concerning the "Value of the Good Turn to the Scout."

A signalling class with Herb McLure in charge proved quite successful. Bill Grommes of the Flying Eagle patrol carried off the honors in an inter-patrol contest. In another event Bud Wagner of the Beaver patrol took first place. The troop charter for 1930 was presented at the meeting and the boys received the new registration cards. There seems to be an epidemic of bugling in the troop at the present time. Every boy wants to be a bugler. Scout Clarence Lennig took his turn and his rendition of taps at the close of the meeting was very good.

Indian Youth Discovers Lawrence County Abounds In Early Indian Lore

Recently there came to this district a native American, in other words, an Indian youth of high school age, for the purpose of investigating Indian Lore and history of this district, which he said he expected to find rather unusual and interesting not only to himself and members of his race but the people in general.

He bore credentials showing that he was a full blooded Cherokee Indian, born in Oklahoma. His English name is Eugene Gavin, but because of the fact that he comes of royal blood among his native people, he is known as Prince E-kus-kini, Sachem of Tellico.

In the short time he has been here, he has unearthed some very interesting data concerning the Indian Peoples who originally owned and resided in this district and in the account given below, gives his first story of the Indian peoples of this district. His story follows:

By Prince E-kus-kini (Eugene Gavin), Sachem of Tellico—a Cherokee Indian

That Lawrence county was once the habitation of those ancient Indians called Mound Builders is a proven fact as evidenced by the well known mounds found at Edenburg. New Castle was called Kus-kus-kee by the Indians.

It is probable that the so called Mound Builders were of the Lenni Lenape and Mengive Nations, who once roamed from the Atlantic ocean and St. Lawrence river to the Mississippi Valley and southward to the Ohio River and the Carolinas. They built numerous cities and gigantic fortifications, worked wonderful copper deposits in the Lake Superior country and also manufactured millions of the elaborate stone implements of war and husbandry which are still found upon the hills throughout this valley.

According to their ancient accounts, the Lenni Lenape or Delaware Indians came from the western part of the continent several thousand years ago, and crossing the Mississippi (Mississippi, which means River of Fish, they conquered the then inhabitants of this region and drove their survivors southward.

After their victory, the Lenni Lenape and Mengive divided the country between them. The Lenni Lenape took the region lying along the Ohio and the Mengive or Iroquois chose the region lying between the Great Lakes and on both sides of the St. Lawrence.

In time these nations grew hostile to each other and in the succeeding wars, the Delaware were humbled to the condition of women, a nickname by which the Iroquois called them thereafter. The White people know nothing of this great country until 1616 when they penetrated as far as the west end of Lake Superior.

Their Missionaries were more successful, however, as they had established themselves at various points within the neighborhood of the Great Lakes by 1650 and the great Chevalier De La Salle had travelled from the headquarters of Lake Michigan to the mouth of the Mississippi river by 1682.

The Delawares who settled in this part of Pennsylvania founded the ancient village of Kus-kus-ki, which is exactly on the same spot that the city of New Castle now stands. Kus-kus-ki is a corruption of "Gosh-Gosh" a hog with the locative "unk" signifying "the place of hogs." There was also another village bearing the same name. This village was situated at the junction of the Mahoning and Shenango rivers, but this last mentioned Kus-kus-ki was a Seneca town and not inhabited by the Delawares.

On account of the situation of these villages on the Muskingum, to Venango, to Logstown and to villages on the Lower Ohio, the neighborhood became a center of trade among the Indians. This made Kus-kus-ki (ancient New Castle) the capital of an inland empire and added prestige to its Indian Kings.

The occupation of Fort Duquesne by the French and later by the British, drove the Indians away from the Upper Ohio to the Beaver and Muskingum rivers as well as down the Ohio. Sawunk and Kuskuski, two famous Indian villages, then became the center of Indian Trades. Before the beginning of the French and Indian War, Kuskuski was the rival of Logstown and remained the most important Indian settlement in Western Pennsylvania until the final migration of the Indians from the state.

Another thing which made Kuskuski so important was that it was here that the famous Indian Sachem, King Beaver and his Chancellor, Shingas resided. Indians for miles around would congregate here at different times with their monarch on various matters of state.

The first white man to visit this town was Christian Frederick Post, who was sent on a peace mission to the Western Indians in the year 1758 in advance of General Forbes' army, then on its way to Fort Duquesne.

He carried with him letters addressed to King Beaver and Shingas, requesting them to stay away from Fort Duquesne, the headquarters of the French troops. At first they refused to treat with Post and he was obliged to return to Easton, but was sent back to Kuskuski. This time his mission was a success, as a grand council was held on the 12th of August and was attended by all the Indian Sachems (Kings) and war chiefs, for many miles around, were present, and there was also a French Captain and fifteen men on the ground. Among the famous kings and war chiefs present were King Beaver, King Shingas, King Reede-jusking and Sachem Delaware George of the Delaware nation. The council unanimously agreed to stay away from Fort Duquesne and keep peace. When the French heard of these proceedings, they withdrew from the fort and the British took possession.

It was not long afterwards that King Beaver and Shingas departed from Kus-kus-ki and established themselves in Beaver town.

In April 1770, two Moravian missionaries, Zeisberger and Senseman came into the valley of the Beaver River by special invitation of the sachem or king, the venerable Pack-an-ka, who now resided at Kus-kus-ki with Glik-kik-an as his chancellor.

It was evident that their visit was attended with great success as they and their Indian converts established a mission west of where the old village of Moravia now stands. The Mission flourished for three years, when for some reason or other they moved to a point on the upper Muskingum river in the present state of Ohio.

Kus-kus-ki which was also called New Kas-gas-kunk was at one time the center from which the principal Indian roads emanated. Indians who resided here used the canoe for transportation up and down the Beaver and its branches, the Mahoning and Shenango rivers.

New Wilmington Man Quarantined

Smallpox Attack Is Revealed By Diagnosis; Precaution Taken

Stanley G. Monroe of New Wilmington is under strict quarantine for an attack of smallpox at his home today, following action taken by Lawrence county medical authorities immediately upon his arrival in New Wilmington from Akron on Thursday.

Monroe, according to the report of the county health director, was first taken ill at a hotel in Akron on February 25. Recovering partially, he came to New Wilmington for a visit at his home on Sunday, March 2. His illness became aggravated here that day and he returned to Akron, where a physician's examination revealed the illness to be smallpox.

Although his illness has been diagnosed as such, he came back to New Wilmington yesterday for a second time, the county officer says, but he was met on arrival by health authorities who had learned of the case. Dr. H. C. Harper, county medical director, and Dr. Barr of New Wilmington confirmed the Akron physician's diagnosis and ordered the home quarantined at once. Members of the Monroe family are also under quarantine and have been vaccinated as a precautionary measure.

There need be no fear because of this case, Dr. Harper announced today. He said that Mr. Monroe made no contacts between Akron and here on his last trip as he came alone in his own automobile. Careful attention will be paid to the case, however, to eliminate all danger of any further spread.

Religious Education Derived From Parents

When I was a student at Columbia, I frequently spent an evening at one of the down-town missions including Chinatown, the Bowery and Water street. There I listened to all sort of testimony. I was most interested in the converts who obviously had been struck by their religion over several months or years. Practically every one of them referred in his testimony to his childhood home, his Christian father and mother.

From them and from literature, I have been unable to find a single man, "converted from a life of sin and shame," continuing in a good life, who had not grown up in childhood under pretty wholesome influences. It was his parents, relatives, or some friends with religious interest and zeal whom he greatly esteemed, that he frequently talked about.

As a psychologist I greatly doubt the efficacy of a conversion of an adult who has not had some good earlier habits and ideals to renew his grip upon. The emotional experiences of his conversion may prove sufficient to set him groping till he seizes hold of something in his experiences upon which he can build.

Children reared in good homes, even when they later stray from their early influences, often are saved. They are, however, always safer if they are so guided as not to stray in spite of evil influences which assail them later. This might be possible if we knew enough about the way to earn and hold the complete affection and esteem of our children. Certainly it is not too much to attempt, although we should not condemn ourselves too severely if we sometimes fail.

Some parents are too hard on themselves. Some of us are too severe in our condemnation of other parents. We should remember that in spite of all our efforts, there are some influences outside the home which may overcome much of the best that we have cultivated in our children.

One thing is certain, the better the habits and ideals that we can engender in our children while they are very young, the less likely are they to wander from these habits and ideals as they grow older.

To return to the testimony of the mission converts, not one of them that I remember referred to the religious influence of the church upon them in their childhood. It was the home, some one they loved, that they recalled and praised.

Most parents depend upon the church for the religious training of their children. But the Sunday school at best can do very little since it has them but for a very brief time once a week. It is the home where they usually derive their basic religious attitudes, whether their parents presume to be religious or not; or whether they attempt or do not attempt to train their children religiously.

Perhaps the average child's spiritual bent is pretty well established before he is old enough to go to Sunday school. Religious leaders with a vision are going to help train the young parents of their church with a view to helping them provide good religious guidance in the home, and to live not only as good models for their adult fellows, but also for their children. More preachers of the future will make their hearers conscious of the family and the home. They will quit scolding parents and begin to show them how to be better parents.

VAST PALACE OF CAVES TO BE EXPLORED SOON

(International News Service)
CARLSBAD, N. M., March 7.—A vast underground palace of caves will be explored here in the recently uncovered Carlsbad caverns, according to announcement by Frank Ernest Nicholson, who will head a party of explorers into the underground wonderland.

The most modern equipment available for use in exploring the hitherto undiscovered portions of the Carlsbad caverns will be used by the Nicholson exploration party during the next few weeks.

The party has established permanent quarters at the mouth of the caverns and has set up a radio broadcasting set, which will broadcast to the world the progress of the explorers who seek greater wonders in the mammoth caves.

Among their equipment also will be collapsible boats weighing 12 pounds which when inflated will carry three men. These boats will be used to travel over places where water is found.

The boats will be put to use first in the "Dead Sea," a small body of water discovered 10 days ago deep in the caverns by Superintendent Thomas Boles. This body of water is the lowest point ever reached in the caverns and is said to be 1220 feet below the surface of the ground.

"Never in my life have I seen such a wonderland of nature," Nicholson said here after making his first visit into the caverns. "I have travelled in all the countries of the world and explored all sorts of things and places, but never anything like the caverns. It is a vast underground palace cave of caves."

Bo-Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

One of the few good things resulting from the house-wrecking unceasingly carried on in Tammany Town, is the occasional glimpse one gets of trees which long have lived imprisoned by rear walls and fences. Many trees still survive in a backyard environment in scattered parts of Manhattan. Poor, moth-eaten, emaciated and decrepit trunks, bravely fulfilling a futile destiny.

ANCE CRUSADE
Easter, official opening date of Coney Island, is a long way off yet but already civic authorities are seeking to eliminate, eradicate, squash, squelch and render null and void freak shows, phony gambling devices and every form of unworthy ballyhoo.

This excess of virtue was prompted, to a degree, by officials of Atlantic City, who, in the throes of a clean-up campaign, told the world that the New Jersey resort was not going to "degenerate into a second Coney Island."

The "waste paper game" in New York is suffering from a severe attack of congestion. For the first time in many years the market is "deluged" with the result that paper, heretofore worth three dollars and four dollars a ton, is being burned on the city dumps.

The half billion tons of waste paper which the city creates in a year has an estimated value, in Manhattan alone, of 25 million dollars. A large office building, such as the Woolworth, disposes of more than 40 tons of waste paper a month, bought by dealers at three dollars a ton. Many of the hotels are given flat had become bored with life was not a howling success.

The debs, seeking a change in the way of variety, rushed into this "slum work," as they called it, wide-eyed and anxious. But a day or two on their dainty feet, in the narrow confines back of a counter, in stagnant, thrice-breathed air, burned them out. They curled up like so many Saratoga chips and were carried out squealing.

ADVICE TO PATRONS
Antoine, the Gramercy Park Frog Leg Fancier and Pate Potentate, has stood by for a year or more patiently shrugging, while clients seriously gunned the works of his busy Nose Bag by ordering their eats in colognebottle French.

"Why must they order good entrees in bum French?" moaned Antoine to his friend, The Newspaper Reporter.

"Tell you what you do," said the Newspaper Man. "I'll write you a little legend and you have it printed. Maybe that'll discourage them."

And here's the screed that appears daily in a red-ink footnote on Antoine's menus:

Don't do any ordering in French. Reverse English slows up the works and gets the waiters sore.

If you must speak French in order to enjoy your dinner, sneak out between the soup and the fish and squander a few diphthongs on Leode, the Lavatory Man.

PLEASE!

Old Ed Howe rises to his full height calls the meeting to order with a sledge hammer, clears the throat a couple of times and says:

"Many a man who thinks he is a free thinker is only a free talker."

Old Justices Reap Cash Rewards On Texas Marriage Laws

TEXARKANA, Tex., March 7.—George M. Orr, 77, and J. S. Draper, 79, are two old justices of the peace who are reaping benefits from the Texas marriage law which says that couples must give three days' notice before marrying. The two old fellows line up on different sides of the court house and watch for matrimony-bound couples. There is keen rivalry between them.

It must be discouraging to a Chicago bandit to find nothing but tax anticipation warrants on a "prospect." —The Detroit Free Press.

Takes Drugs To Break Spell Of His Stupor

BELFAST, March 7.—A man in the Belfast union infirmary, about 30 years old, walks around in a daze and can only recall incidents happening in the past year. "Matt," as he is known, has been subjected to drugs in an endeavor to induce him to talk about himself during a stupor. The only inkling to his identity is the fact that he seems familiar with the duties of a chemist. Other than that his mind is blank.

Thrilling Dash In Far North To Save Man

JIM INGRAM

HUNK, THE ESKIMO, IN HIS COT AT ST. ANTHONY'S HOSPITAL, THE PAS MAN

By Central Press
THE PAS, Manitoba, Canada, Mar. 7.—From the time the early explorers from Scandinavia and the British Isles first braved the uncharted, ice-filled waters of the Arctic and Hudson bays, the Eskimos have proved their loyalty to the whites on countless occasions.

The whites have repaid kindness with kindness, but in February, when Hunk, Eskimo hunter of Nonola, was found badly frozen near his camp on the rock-bound shores of Hudson Bay, the entire resources of the north were put at his disposal and he was brought safely to this town for treatment.

The north is noted for its living tales of man's courage. The Land of the Midnight Sun echoes with the tales of daring deeds. But the climax came last month when every conceivable agency in the wilderness of the Barren Lands was brought into play to alleviate the sufferings of an Eskimo.

Lost In Snow Storm
It was about the middle of February, that Hunk along with several companions, became separated in a snow storm. They had been trapping all winter. The fur catch was light. Hunk had only trapped 15 white foxes. They doggedly stuck to their work in spite of the rising storm. Then it burst upon them, the worst blizzard that had struck the Barrens in many a year.

They became separated. Hunk still had his dog team. He left it to try and find a land mark. He failed, and then could not find his dogs. Without food, shelter or even his trusty knife with which he might have cut snow blocks for an igloo, he was at the mercy of the raging elements.

For two days he struggled in circles in the storm, and then with feet and legs frozen to the knees and one hand stiff, he lay down for his last sleep.

Miraculously, he awoke to find the storm abated. He was less than 400 yards from his camp. He staggered to an outhouse and collapsed. He was found by a constable of the Royal Canadian Mounted police. It was decided he had to be taken to the nearest doctor, 635 miles south, at the Pas.

Two trappers volunteered to mush Hunk to Churchill. It was 125 miles south and no trail to guide them. At Churchill the wounds were dressed. Two more trappers, Jim Ingram and Clifford Cochrane offered to mush Hunk southward. They started with two dog teams. Hunk was given a frozen whitefish and a haunch of caribou to chew on the way. He didn't complain, but he asked to be given that diet, his favorite, on the trip.

In the meantime, the Hudson Bay railway started a special train with volunteer crew from Mile 135. It was the first train to run over the northern portion of the road since December 10. They had orders to proceed to Churchill if necessary and pick up the dog team.

Although they carried about 30,000 gallons of water in extra tanks they ran short and lost time. They finally came in sight of the mushers at Mile 474, loaded the Eskimo in a caboose and started back on a record run. The train crew covered 611 miles, or about six divisions, under terrible conditions.

Not A Murrur
It was tough on the Eskimo, but with the characteristic stoicism of his race, not a murrur passed his lips. Unable to understand English, and with strangers who could not speak to him, he was passed from one relay team to another, over frozen tundra, in strange habitations. Finally, suffering the agony of frost, he was brought to the monster iron horse, bundled into a caboose and then, after mile upon mile of rocking railroad, a waiting automobile, and a minute later in St. Anthony's hospital.

It was one succession of shocks. But the hardy Eskimo was equal to them all. He smiles and says "Amumik. I am thankful."

Sues Because Of Health Of Dog
(International News Service)
DALLAS, Texas, March 7.—Because the dog for which she traded a pair of singing canaries developed a bad temper and became a menace to her grandchildren, Mary Ellen Trammell sued James J. Hamiter for $2925.

Slain President's Horse Is Pampered In Old Age

(International News Service)
FORT LYON, Colo., March 7.—Old Frank, once a member of the fine span of horses which drew ex-President William McKinley's coach at the inauguration of 1897, and later, it is said, drew the executive's funeral coach after the assassination, is now on pension here and considered the privileged character of Fort Lyon.

Old Frank is forty years old, probably the oldest horse in America, and has been here for about twenty years, pensioned by the United States government.

When the navy controlled Fort Lyon in 1908, Old Frank and his team mate were sent west and orders were issued that the team was not to be worked. About ten years ago, Old Frank's mate was killed by a lightning bolt.

When George Backman, present farm superintendent, arrived here in 1923 he saw the old horse, and being short of work horses, he hitched him to a wagon and put him to light work. A report of the action reached Washington and Backman immediately received an order that Old Frank was not to be harnessed under any circumstances.

Way Is Cleared For Paying Compensation To Russian Family

HARRISBURG, March 7.—The way has been cleared by the Workmen's Compensation Board, Department of Labor and Industry, for dependents residing in Russia to receive compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act of Pennsylvania although diplomatic relationship does not now exist between the United States and the Union of Socialist Soviet Russia, known generally as the Soviet Union. A recent opinion by the Workmen's Compensation Board given by Joseph E. Fleitz, Chairman Paul W. Houck and J. L. Morrison concurring, the business can be transacted by consular officers in or for other countries.

The claim under consideration was that of Anna Hatalaki, whose husband Michael Hatalaki, died as the result of injuries received while employed by the Ford Collieries Co. The company denied liability for the reason that the dependency of the widow and child of the deceased had not been proven. It now becomes necessary to take the testimony of the claimants and their witnesses in Russia since it was shown that they are residents of that country. The manner of taking depositions in Russia, will conform to the rules followed by the State Department at Washington as follows: (1) The person in Russia may execute the document in question before a consular officer in Russia, of a nation with which this country has diplomatic relations. (2) The person in Russia may if practicable, appear before the nearest American consular officers outside of Russia for the purpose of executing the document. The opinion of the Workmen's Compensation Board concludes: "Our courts recognize the rights of Russian citizens in our own country and we believe it is entirely consonant with the principles of international law that the claimant in the present case be permitted to prove her claim and recover compensation if possible before the compensation authorities and the courts of this country."

Please give me all the available information concerning Muscle Shoals. Muscle Shoals, at the rapids of the Tennessee river are the site of the Wilson dam and a government-planned power plant originally a world war time project, begun and nearly finished by army engineers, primarily as a source of nitrate supplies for munition making purposes, but now available for commercial use. The dam has an installed capacity of 200,000 horsepower, limited to considerably less than that, however, by its transformer capacity. It is designed ultimately to furnish 612,000 horsepower. The property has been the object of a fight for more than a decade between an element which seeks to hold it for the government and interests which hope to secure it for private exploitation.

Is there any national society devoted to the promotion of world peace? What members of congress are leaders in the peace movement?

The National Council for Prevention of War, with headquarters at 532 Seventeenth street, Washington, D. C. Senator Lynn J. Is the Mississippi-Missouri River the longest in the world? Please state what river has the largest volume.

The Mississippi and Missouri combined together 4,221 miles from the Mississippi's mouth to the Missouri's headwaters) make the world's longest river. In volume, however, they are far surpassed by the Amazon which is estimated to discharge between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 cubic feet per second at an average stage of the water, compared with a scant 1,200,000 cubic foot per second maximum for the Mississippi-Missouri at New Orleans.

SAYS DRY LAW CAN BE IGNORED LIKE STAMP ACT

Boston University Students Say
There Is No Signs Of Enforcement

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mar. 7.—Since the Prohibition law is objectionable, it can be ignored just as the Stamp Act was ignored by the Colonists, a Boston University student suggested at a forum on the subject at a point meeting of Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. groups. Boston University students at the meeting were of the opinion that there is no sign of enforcement of the Prohibition Amendment, and were not optimistic of its complete effectiveness.

Hip flasks are not so common among the students today as alcohol drinking was in the pre-prohibition days, according to Miss Ruth Lockman, a 1928 graduate of Winthrop College who is secretary of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association.

Miss Lockman suggested that it would not be undignified for the Federal Government to withdraw its enforcement from a state which did not want prohibition, guarding the borders of this state so that its wetness would not permeate its neighbors. The major reason for non-enforcement, according to Miss Lockman was the fact that so many men responsible for its enforcement "have their price" and that if the federal and state governments really want prohibition they will eventually get it.

It appears that two men in Somerville who took refuge in an ice-chest were trying to escape arrest rather than to find refuge from the February heat wave.—The Boston Evening Transcript.

Sounds Warning To Auto Owners

Epidemic Of Thefts In State Causes P. M. F. Head To Warn Owners To Lock Cars

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 7.—Abnormal increase in car thefts reported recently from cities and towns all over the state led the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, state unit of the American Automobile Association, to sound warning today that automobiles be kept locked when not in use.

"Whether due to unemployment conditions or some other cause, Pennsylvania is experiencing at present what seems to be a virtual epidemic of automobile thefts," said S. Edward Gable, president of the Federation. "Most of these thefts, analysis of the reports made to us shows, were of cars that were left parked with the key in the ignition lock, which, of course, is an invitation to the thief."

"Automobile manufacturers have made the modern car practically theft-proof insofar as ignition and other locking devices go, but if the operator fails to utilize this protection when the machine is left parked along the street or highway, or in the private garage, it might as well not be there. Even the most intricate locks, of course, will not always thwart the professional thief, but they tend to cut out a minimum number of thefts if used as they should be."

"I cannot understand why it is that so many automobile owners are careless about locking their cars, why they are willing to let machines worth anywhere from several hundred to several thousand dollars stand along the public street or highway, unlocked. Yet these same individuals use every precaution to keep their homes or their places of business locked and otherwise safeguarded against thieves."

"Even though the car is insured against theft, the driver should see to it that it is properly locked when left standing. If every motorist took this precaution there would be far fewer automobiles stolen."

Mr. Gable said that most of the thefts reported occurred within a short time after the car had been parked and that a big majority, according to indications, were stolen by other than professional thieves.

U. S. AND CANADA HAVE NEARLY SIX MILLION AUTOS

Over One-Fifth Of Machines Made Used In Two Countries

(International News Service.)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 7.—World wide automobile registrations for 1929 totaled 34,950,915, according to the annual survey of the Statistical Issue of Automotive Industries, with a record breaking production of 5,621,658 passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada. New York state led in marketing its share with 351,000 or 8.6 per cent of the aggregate for the United States, Pennsylvania, Ohio, California and Michigan following in order.

The 1929 revenue from gasoline taxes amounting to $407,386,816 exceeded for the first time motor registration fees collected by the state governments which totaled $346,988,859. This is partly due to the fact that three states, Illinois, Massachusetts and New York, began taxing gasoline used for motor vehicles in 1929, and to increases in this tax in several other states. Increased registration and travel per car also influenced the gasoline tax receipts. In proportion to the registration, the increase in registration fees over 1928 indicated that there was little change in these fees.

Report Morphine Shipment Seized

NEW YORK, March 7.—Contraband morphine valued at a half million dollars and believed to have been consigned to New York and Chicago headquarters of an international drug ring was seized, it was learned Wednesday, on pier 57, North River.

The seizure was made by customs guards Tuesday night after the S. S. Lie De France had docked, but customs officials would not reveal the origin of the huge narcotic supply.

The morphine was in two trunks. One contained forty-five packages of powdered morphine, each weighing over a pound, and in the other were three ten-pound cans, six twelve and one half pound cans and six one and one quarter pound cans.

The seizure is reported as one of the largest ever made in New York.

Nurse Poisons Baby In Revenge Plot

(International News Service.)
EXPURT, (Thuringia), March 7.—Enraged at her dismissal after a fortnight's service, Marta Neikel, 29-year-old maid, poisoned the two-year-old baby of her employers with lysol.

After trying to deceive the police with a fake burglary story, charging the burglar with the murder, she finally broke down under severe grilling and confessed to having poisoned the baby to take revenge for her dismissal.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College
School of Agriculture

Expect Too Many Potatoes—Outlook figures released by federal agriculture officials indicate that farmers in the United States intended to plant 3,570,000 acres of potatoes this year compared to 3,370,000 acres harvested last year. Yields in line with the trend of recent years will provide a crop too large for consumption needs and, therefore, profitable production.

Start Early Vegetables—Cabbage and other cool weather plants may be started in hotbeds this month. Tomatoes and other warm weather plants can be started in greenhouses this month and in hotbeds in April.

Avoid Infertile Eggs—For best results do not start to save eggs for hatching purposes for the first ten days or two weeks after the male birds have been allowed to run with the breeders.

Rotate Farm Crops—Good rotations increase crop yields, reduce production expenses and provides a better and more profitable diversity. Spring is the time to put them into effect.

Farmers Improve Woods—Pennsylvania farmers are cutting weed trees out of their woodlands more than ever, according to forestry extension specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. Many plan to work over their entire wood in ten years and get a steady winter income while doing it.

Provide Electric Outlets—Besides having at least one electric light in every room, connected to a switch at the door, it is suggested that numerous double, interchangeable outlet receptacles be provided. More outlets around the baseboards and less fixtures are rapidly coming into use for lamps and also for candlesticks on buffets, mantelpieces, tables and bureaus.

BLOCKS MOVIE SCENE OF NAKED BATHERS

LONDON, March 7.—Mrs. Macaulay, although old and frail proved a tough customer for the British "talkie" cameramen of Torquay recently.

When they were about to take a picture of some bathing girls, the old woman strode in front of the camera and refused to budge. "I do not approve of this nakedness. Here I am, and here I stay," she said. The cameramen were forced to postpone taking the picture.

$5,000 Is Paid For Single Duck

LONDON, March 7.—Probably the highest price ever paid for a duck was that paid for a specimen of the Labrador duck, a classification almost as rare as the famous great auk, on display here recently.

Only 45 specimens of this duck are said to be alive and the price paid for this one was in excess of $5,000. It originally inhabited the north coast of America.

FORESEES ARTIFICIAL SUNSHINE FOR HOME

(International News Service.)
CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—Dr. Mathew Luckeish, engineer of the General Electric Co. plant at Nela Park, in an address here stated that within the next five years, artificial sunshine will be available for the home.

Dr. Luckeish declared that the cost would be no greater than that of the present electric bulb.

"Hospitals and nurseries will derive the greatest benefit from the artificial light," said the engineer.

WOULD PUNISH WITNESSES WHO LIE

(International News Service.)
CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—In a radio address here recently Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther suggested that law be amended to permit trial judges to punish summary witnesses who apparently testify falsely.

Judge Walther declared that the percentage of witnesses giving false testimony is extremely high.

French Protest "Tourist" Plays As Harmful To Nation

PARIS, March 7.—The French are protesting against the increasing number of plays that are being put on in English at some of their theaters for the benefit of tourists. These are plays that have been banned in England and America.

Claiming that such plays are giving Paris a "bad name," public sentiment is against them and officials say, "Why should our boardings be plastered with notices blatantly heralding plays which America and England have banned?"

Two notorious plays, banned in England and produced in Paris, are "Maya" and "The Well of Loneliness."

"These plays are there to attract the tourist," officials say. "He then goes back home and says what a wicked city Paris is. The only people who are wicked are these English and American tourists."

BOHEMIA SUFFERS MUSKRAT PLAGUE

PRAGUE, March 7.—The American muskrat, brought to Bohemia 20 years ago in a very small number, has multiplied to such an extent that Bohemia is waging a relentless war to exterminate these creatures.

There are millions of the animals now in this country and their borings are ruining dykes, railway embankments and roads. Organized hunts are held to kill the creatures off.

Board Of Appeals Holds Decision Over Until Monday

Rehears The Case Of Rubino Versus Ritchie At Special Session

SOME OBJECTIONS FILED BY PLAINTIFF

At the special adjourned session of the Board of Zoning Appeals held Thursday afternoon in the city council chamber for the consideration of the case of Prospero and Mary Rubino versus D. M. Ritchie, referred back to the board for further consideration by the Lawrence county court, to which the plaintiffs had appealed from the original decision of the board, which upheld the city engineering in issuing a permit to D. M. Ritchie for the construction of a large garage in the rear of his property in a secondary business district.

The special session convened at 1:30 o'clock Thursday with the full board consisting of Matthew Guntion, Sr., Mrs. Florence Pearson and Attorney Frank A. Hoyer present.

Before the session reached the status of hearing testimony, Attorney Clarence Patterson for the objectors, Prospero and Mary Rubino, asked that his objection be entered on the minutes of the session to the fact that he and his clients had not been given six days' notice of the present or adjourned session.

The question was then raised regarding the fact that Attorney Patterson had been the only attorney present at the original hearing and that his side of the case was the only one that had a proper consideration in past records of the case and by agreement of counsel it was decided that the original testimony of the appellant, Prospero and Mary Rubino, and witnesses should go on record as the testimony of Thursday afternoon.

Testimony was then offered by the appellee, D. M. Ritchie. The witnesses for the appellee were Neal Williams, Thomas A. Weide, D. M. Ritchie and H. M. Beighley. Attorney Patterson, counsel for the appellant, made numerous objections to the admission of testimony offered by the appellee, D. M. Ritchie, through his counsel and that of his contractors, Attorneys George T. Weingartner and Orville Brown.

Two and one-half hours were consumed in the hearing. The board decided that no executive session for the reaching of a decision in the case would be held until after the testimony of the hearing was available in written form. It adjourned until Monday afternoon, when the testimony will be available, and it will convene in executive session and reach a decision.

It was also decided to postpone a decision in the case of Mrs. Agnes Rhodes, who is seeking to make improvements to her property at North and Quest streets, which do not conform to the zoning regulations of the district, until the same time.

Calf Saves Cowboy From Death In Cold

(International News Service)
GREELEY, Colo., March 7.—Phil Jenkins, a range rider, saved himself from freezing to death recently by sleeping in a haystack with a steer calf. He is now recovering from a badly frozen face at the Wiswold ranch, thirty-five miles southeast of here.

The range rider found himself miles from the ranchhouse on a cold night from freezing to death recently and bored into a haystack seeking refuge. It was 40 degrees below zero and the haystack afforded only slight relief from the intense cold. Jenkins then went out and roped a calf, towed it into the stack, tied it up and snuggled against the animal, finding relief.

Geneva Beats Dukes In Pittsburgh 27-24

Titans Elevated To Top Of Tri-State League; Is Tough On Duquesne

"Len" Friedman Proves Star In Great Battle On Bluff Thursday

There is considerable rejoicing today in the camp of the Titans of Westminster College, at New Wilmington. The peaceful little town is all aflutter. "All hail the Tri-State Conference champions, our Titans," is heard on every hand.

The cause for all this hurrahing and whooping making is the fact that Geneva College with an unbeaten basketball team this year, happened to have an exceptionally "in" night at Pittsburgh last night, and snatched the Dukes of Duquesne for a 27 to 24 count, leaving the Titans the rulers of a campaign of several months, which was as unsettled as the Naval Conference, or the taxi-strike.

Coach Johnny Lawther and his great and deserving Westminster team are elevated today to the top of the heap in the Tri-State. The chances of the Titans for honors this year were about as slim as a boarding-house sandwich on Tuesday night when an inspired Duquesne team, great to the extent of super-natural playing, handed the Titans a left-pawed sock 31 to 27 in a sensational game at the Bluff gym. The Dukes will take Geneva like Clara Bow took Richman was heard on all sides, but it looks as if the Genevians took a little taking themselves.

Westminster should really give this Leonard "Len" Friedman of New Castle, Penn., a vote of thanks, or a great big hand, or a slice of cake, because it was the great work of this New Castle boy, and Geneva star, that gave the Titans the victory. He had five baskets and a couple of fouls to give the Genevians 12 points in what proved to be the payoff. Manning and Montgomery also helped themselves to two and three baskets respectively.

Benedict Covered Geneva must have had Ganzy Benedict covered like a tent. It was the fine work of the Duke leader that downed Westminster. He had six baskets, three fouls, and three fouls for fifteen points, but last night Geneva forgot about Lubie, Parry, Stephens, Vernon and McGeever, and confined themselves to the task of stopping Benedict and he was stopped.

At the end of the first half the Dukes led the parade 17 to 15 with little Bud Stephens leading the way with three baskets and a foul. The Dukes had the lead all the way in the first half, at one time they led 17 to 8, but the Geneva boys were rarin' to go places and they went.

Spurred on by the entreaties of their noble Coach Charles Chick Davies, the red and blue passers fought valiantly in the second half to take the title in their final season of Tri-State Conference playing, and they did succeed in making it uncomfortable for the Geneva boys through the medium of knotting the count at 20 all, 22, and 24, as the timer's watch clicked away the minutes and also the Conference championship.

Anybody's Game In the final three minutes of the battle, it was anybody's ball game as the saying goes. The Dukes became desperate, they had ascended the stairs of fame by topping a great Titan team two nights before and they were within the shadows of the flag, but suddenly something snapped, the Geneva team raced to the lead as the Geneva boys through the Duke Ransom heaved a foul and then Manning dribbled through the Dukes team to cage the ball, and it was this three points that gave the Geneva boys the game.

Here is what probably happened to the Davies team as they ride the wings of fame, they slipped up on the one word that has spelled doom to a great many good teams in all branches of sport, over-confidence. They had licked the Titans, they thought that they could coast along with Geneva and then take Thiel, and the law of averages got them. It is a tough break for Chick Davies, after carefully grooming his charges for two important games this week.

Friedman Plays Final "Len" Friedman played his final collegiate basketball last night, and he did a good job of it. Friedman ranks with the best in the Tri-State, there is no question of that. He has had a none too good season, but has been handicapped by the fame that he spread throughout the Tri-State for the past three years, being ranked as one of the cleverest in the business. He waited until last night to show his wares, and the fans on the Bluff saw a human dynamo in action.

The summary follows: Geneva—27. Duquesne—24. Heckler.....F.....(c) Benedict Fair.....F.....Lubie Ransom.....C.....McGeever Friedman (c).....G.....Parry Montgomery.....G.....Stephens

Score by halves: Duquesne.....17 7—24 Geneva.....15 12—27 Field goals—Geneva: Manning 3, Fair, Friedman 5, Montgomery 3; Duquesne, Benedict 2, Lubie 2, Parry, Stephens 4.

Team fouls—Geneva 5 out of 8. Duquesne 6 out of 8. Individual fouls—Geneva: Manning 2 out of 3, Ransom 2 out of 2, Friedman 1 out of 1, Montgomery none out of 2; Duquesne: Benedict 1 out of 2, Lubie 1 out of 2, McGeever 1 out of 1, Parry 2 out of 2, Stephens 1 out of 1.

Subs—Manning for Fair, Fair for Heckler, Vernon for McGeever. Referee—Cal Boister. Umpire—Beggs Snyder. Time of halves—20 minutes.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

When Geneva upset Duquesne 27 to 24 last night the victory gave the conference championship to Westminster. For Duquesne it was a big shock and for Geneva a splendid climax to a mediocre season. Captain Friedman of Geneva flashed forth with five field goals and one foul goal for 11 points.

Emmett Pore of Chicago made Richard N. Williams of New York exceed himself at Palm Beach in a hard fought sets in the semi-final round of the Florida tennis championship. Williams finally won. In the other semi-final Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., beat Craig Biddle, Peacadeia, R. I., 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

It is just as well that the bout between Tony Herrera and Steve Culver, which was scheduled for Monday here and called off, has been set back as the Mexican received a cut eye and star, but the Geneva boys were rarin' to go places and they went.

Al Friedman, Boston, and Tuffy Griffith, Chicago, are scheduled to box at Boston, Friday night. Griffith is pronounced by some to be America's best heavyweight. After the Friedman-Griffith bout, the former will battle Emmett Rocco here March 17, which shows the class of bouts arranged for New Castle fans.

There are 34 pitchers of 100 in the American league who stand six feet or more, but the Yankees have one who would make a splendid center pole for a circus top. He is Fred Asbeck, former University of Michigan star. He is six feet six inches tall. Foster Edwards, also a Yankee, and Pat Caraway, White Sox, stand six feet four inches, each.

The grey gelding Glangisla, owned by R. K. Mellon, Pittsburgh, has been entered in the aged and best known steeplechase event, the Grand National Steeplechase, to be raced over the Aintree course near Liverpool, England, March 28.

(International News Service) SAN ANTONIO, March 7.—The New York Giants were not particularly optimistic today over their forthcoming games with the White Sox for the Giants were not so impressive when they won yesterday over the University of Texas, 4 to 1. Mike Del Fuenta, a right handed hurler, shut out McGraw's men after the second inning.

A SENSIBLE THING TO DO

New Castle Hi Plays Waynesburg Saturday

Victory Over Green County Team Will Enter Locals In Semi-Final

Waynesburg Has Fast Team; Final Workout This Afternoon For Locals

A secret lecture followed by a workout at the senior high school gymnasium was the "menu" for the New Castle high school basketball team on Thursday afternoon. On Saturday night at the Pitt stadium the local undefeated basketball artists will enter the second round of the W. P. I. A. L. tournament, opposing the strong Waynesburg quintet. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh stated that the locals will end practice for this important tilt this afternoon.

The game Saturday is important in that it will either eliminate the locals from the schoolboy tourney or will advance New Castle to the semi-final round. It will also mean the 17th straight victory of the year or the first setback. Waynesburg, in defeating Hickory high the other night looked very impressive. Several of the local officials who saw Waynesburg play expressed their belief that Waynesburg will give the locals the hardest game they will have to play. They also may turn the locals down to defeat.

Many fans take in consideration that Waynesburg was defeated by Washington. New Castle defeated Washington twice but since Waynesburg was defeated by Washington they win over Hickory and expect to present their strongest lineup of the season against the undefeated Lawrence county passers.

Waynesburg and New Castle are evenly matched if one takes the size of both teams into consideration. The Greene county chaps have a fast passing team. Waynesburg has two forwards who are real passers. They are Black and Cowan.

Black tallied eight times from the field while Cowan tossed the spheroid five times through the hoops in the Hickory tilt. These two lads will have to be checked. Nick Uram and Regis McAuley will have the task of halting these two cagers who proved a tower of strength in nearly all the games this year. Captain Alexander will have his hands full at center. He will oppose McMurphy, who is another crack player for the Waynesburg team.

Should New Castle beat Waynesburg they will enter the semi-finals. The Fifth Avenue-North Braddock winner will meet Duquesne and the Castle in the semi-final. So far it looks like New Castle will play Duquesne if they defeat Waynesburg. It is only a matter of time.

Special Street Cars. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner stated yesterday that he has arranged to have special street cars to the station to transport the fans to Pitt stadium. He is arranging so that the special train leaves Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock following the game. The special train will leave from here at 5:45 o'clock on Wednesday. The East Brook team a few weeks ago defeated the Phantom girls, and the "Y" maidens got their revenge.

Holdout Situation

Has Bush Puzzled

(International News Service) CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7.—Eddie Moore was scheduled to report to the Brooklyn Robins today, leaving Babe Herman as the sole Dodger holdout.

In a practice game yesterday the regulars won from the irregulars 7 to 4. Luque, Roy and Moore toiled for the winners on the mound and the losing hurlers were Clark, Vance and Morrison.

(International News Service) SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 7.—So serious is the holdout problem in the Chicago White Sox training camp that Manager Donie Bush has been forced to recruit outside labor to round out a team to play the New York Giants Saturday and Sunday in San Antonio.

(International News Service) FORT MYERS, Fla., March 7.—Victorious over the rookies by an 8-1 score in the first practice game of the year, Connie Mack's world champion Athletics resumed their two-day drills today. Roger Cramer, ex-member of the Blue Ridge league, gave the veteran manager something to think about when he whammed one of Lefty Groves' offerings for a homer and handled several difficult chances.

Pirates Long For Continued Sunshine

(International News Service) PASO ROBLES, Cal., Mar. 7.—With first intensive workout of the training season under their belts, the Pirates were hoping today for a continuance of the balmy weather that permitted a real drill yesterday.

It was the first time since the Corsairs encamped here a week ago that Old Sol played to a capacity matinee audience. One after another the Bucs took three hefty swings at the offerings of the moundsmen, the latter putting plenty of steam behind their deliveries. An extended infield workout climaxed batting practice.

Eighty candidates for the New Castle high school track team for this season have started training at Taggart Field according to William L. Klee who is in charge of the boys at the present time. Training started on Wednesday.

With the weather commencing to be ideal for the track season, the boys have started to trot the cinder and get the tight spots loosened out. Only one month and half remains until the New Castle Night Relay Carnival is held here. For this reason training has started early in the hope that New Castle will have a fairly good representative in the meet. So far the material looks green.

Calisthenics and running around the track will constitute the training for a few days.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Active Industrial Stocks Sell Up Little Higher

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Mar. 7.—Active industrial stocks sold up a point or two in the early trading today in response to the cheerful feeling in the financial district relative to "easy money" and improvement in the commodity markets. Loews forged ahead to 79 for a new gain of 5 1/2 points and the balance of the amusement stock group sold at the highest prices on the move.

No great disappointment was felt over the failure of the New York Reserve bank heads to reduce the discount rate of the bank, but the $94,000,000 rise in brokers' loans showed conclusively that the "public was coming into the market." If this is the case, the pools and professionals will have a better opportunity to distribute the stock they have been driving vigorously upward in recent weeks.

There was sufficient driving power behind the market this morning to force a number of the active stocks upward a point or two, before the reaction set in. Bethlehem Steel rose a point to 101 1/2.

Johns Manville was up 3 1/2 at 141 1/2; Warner Brothers Pictures up 1 1/2 at 70; Texas Land Trust up 1 1/2 at 20 1/2. Packard Motor sold at the year's highest price, at 20 1/2, on reports of further progress in the perfection of the Diesel engine. Atlantic Refining continued in the leadership of the high grade oils and sold a point higher, at 43 1/2.

The renewal call loan rate was 4 per cent, but money was in good supply at 3 1/2 per cent. Cotton, wheat steadied in the early trading.

NEW CASTLE DRY GOODS CO.

How A Lady Of Talent Can Get Her Husband Back

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Dramatic Editor.

(Copyright, 1930, by International News Service.)
NEW YORK, Mar. 7.—Minna Gombell is a theatrical dynamo.

She turns her personality on and off like a light.

Between her suppressed vivacity hums up and down the aisles.

It is this kind of an electrical performance that Miss Gombell gives in "Nancy's Private Affairs," a comedy by Myron C. Fagan.

The plot is of a Cinderella wife who evolves from wollen stockings and horn-rim glasses to silks and satins to regain the affections of her divorced husband.

It has pert and saucy lines. But it is questionable whether it would be as successful if it were not for the bewitching be-dimpled Minna.

leading lady in "Mr. Pitt" with Walter Huston.

The important question as to how a husband may be recaptured is the theme song without music in another popular production, "The First Mrs. Fraser," starring Grace George, St. John Ervine wrote it.

Mrs. Fraser has also divorced her husband. But she plots so sweetly to get him back that you forgive her feminine deceptions.

Mrs. Frazier is gentle but wise, dominating but tolerant, and has a sense of humor.

These sterling qualities are therefore recommended to those ladies who might wish to put misplaced husbands back in the old domestic umbrella stand.

My only masculine objection to the premise of both these get-back-your-husband plays is that it delineates the boys as to many tin-heads.

Taking into consideration the purported superiority of the fair sex in the technique of heart affairs, I still am doubtful if the average man would be so easily captivated twice by the same woman.

However, I am not looking for an argument, merely for statistics.

Dr. Cook's Parole Is Given Final O. K.

(International News Service)

Dr. Cook has been serving a sentence of 14 years for conviction of using the mails to defraud in connection with an oil stock selling scheme.

DOUBLE EXPENSE.
"Charlie dear," said the fond wife, "I started today to economize on our expenses."

"Good, darling. How did you do it?"
"I cut all your Havana cigars in half so you'll have twice as many."

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

The high school players came thru again Thursday evening with another successful play, all of which is not news. But there has to be a start to this column and this is as good as any. Of course it was good. High school plays always are. Not as finely done as Barrymore would do them perhaps, not the same finish and detail that a Skinner or a Hodge would give them, but the thing is this. The youngsters give 100 per cent of their abilities and from their standpoint the show is 100 per cent successful. You can't ask for more than that.

The play will be repeated this evening for the benefit of the Union Baptist church and if you want to help save a church for a group of devout people who are handicapped by lack of finances, see "The Mad Honeymoon" tonight.

Down on the Carnegie auditorium alleys tonight, the steelers and the cementers tangle again and tonight the big pins will be used. A note found its way to this desk in which it is said that Charley Schlicher pulled a tendon in his back. Why he pulled it or how he pulled it isn't made clear, but the inference is that Charley is pulled out of the game.

The bear stories from the cement camp are pathetic. Wes Davy is alleged to be suffering from spring fever, which may be true, and may just be the old hokey. Anyway the boys have a fireproof alibi worked up and that will help some.

Arthur Burgoyne was in town last night, which probably means little to you. But Arthur Burgoyne is worth more than just a personal mention. In the past 20 years he has been places and seen things, and has run the gamut from war correspondent in Mexico in 1916, to justice of the peace in Conneaut Lake. Just now he is neither, but is back in the publicity game. What he is publicizing I don't know, for his projects have taken a queer course.

There was a time when he answered to the term of reporter but took up publicity in a big way later on.

Jack White, son of the city solicitor, writes another interesting letter, this time from Tucson, Arizona. He is now on a ranch out in Arizona, the Hacienda de la Osa, which means in the language of Washington street, the Ranch of the Bear, located near Sasabe, Arizona. The ranch is located just three minutes by bus or fifteen minutes by horse from the border of Mexico, and Jack says it is a popular place for Americans.

Sasabe is sure enough out where men are men and Jack says that the old time cowboy is not extinct by any means. His experience in the cavalry school of Culver Military Academy has stood him in good stead with the ranch horses and from his letter he's having the time of his young life.

That's all for today, but don't forget to get your tickets for the Jamestown Memorial hospital minstrel show which opens on March 13th.

REMOVING MUD STAINS
Allow mud stains to dry and brush carefully before any other treatment is used. Sometimes nothing else is needed. If it is, however, and the fabric is washable, use soap and water. If the article is not washable, sponge the stains with alcohol, either wood or denatured.

NEW MACHINE PLANTS STALKS OF SUGAR SEED CANE

Takes Place Of Twenty Laborers
In Southern Sugar District

(International News Service)
CLEWSTON, Fla., March 3.—For the first time in the history of the world's sugar industry, which annually produces about 30,000,000 tons of sugar, a machine has been devised to plant the stalks of seed cane.

The cane planter is the invention of N. C. Storey, for five years superintendent of mechanical maintenance for the Panama Canal and now mechanical engineer for Dahlberg Sugar Cane Industries, which are converting 175,000 acres of Florida Everglades swamp land into what promises to be one of the world's great "sugar bowls."

Lumbering over the soft soil of drained Everglades land on wide caterpillar treads, the machine plows and sets the cane stalks into two furrows simultaneously. Drawn by a caterpillar tractor, the planter sets out twenty acres of cane per day, the normal work of a score of laborers. The powerful little tractors draw the planters along at speeds ranging as high as fifteen miles per hour.

Twenty of these machines are now at work in the Everglades planting an average of 400 acres of cane per day, a task which formerly would have required an army of 400 men.
